

JUDGE FELL'S SUMMING UP OF THE MASON-SMITH CASE

Full Text of the Important Decision Rendered in Philadelphia.

THE WHOLE COURT AGREES

Ohio Valley Gas Company Deal the Point on Which All Turned.

NO PROOF OF AN AGREEMENT

Strong Enough, in the Court's Opinion, to Sustain the Contention of the Plaintiff—Decree of the Lower Court Reversed.

The opinion of Judge Fell, of the Pennsylvania supreme court, in the case of Albert G. Mason versus Chas. A. Smith, has been received in this city. The entire seven judges concurred in the finding. The decision is as follows:

It is averred in the bill filed that in February, 1896, the plaintiff and defendant, being then the owners of a part of the stock of the Ohio Valley Gas company, entered into a parole agreement to purchase the remainder of the stock and to divide equally the profits which should arise from the management of the company, or the sale of its stock; that in pursuance of this agreement they united their credit, efforts and influence, purchased the stock and managed the company until October, 1899, when they sold the same at a profit of $255,000; that with a part of the profits of this sale they purchased a large tract of land in West Virginia, built a pottery, paid the subscriptions on the stock of a corporation which they formed, known as the Taylor, Lee & Smith company, and purchased the stock and property of the Knowles, Taylor & Anderson company, an Ohio corporation engaged in manufacturing sewer pipe, which stock they afterwards sold for $175,000; that all of these purchases and sales were made in the defendant's name, and that he holds the title to all of the joint property unsold, except the stock of the Taylor Lee & Smith company; that the defendant is investing the joint property and assets in other enterprises without the consent of the plaintiff, and refuses to give him a statement of their mutual accounts, and that the share of the profits of these enterprises to which the plaintiff is entitled amounts to $175,000 or $200,000. The prayers of the bill are for a receiver, an accounting and general relief.

PLAINTIFF'S AVERMENTS WERE ALL DENIED

The answer contains a distinct and complete denial of all the averments of ownership, joint purchase or interest, and avers that all the stock, lands, etc., referred to in the bill were bought by the defendant with his own funds, or upon his own credit, and for his own account; that there was never any agreement, or understanding of any nature or kind with the plaintiff that he was to receive any compensation for his services in connection with these transactions, or any profits arising therefrom; that the only services he rendered were in matters of detail after the negotiations were completed, and that these were rendered voluntarily by him in expectation that his position as an officer of some of the companies connected with the property would be assured if they became vested in the defendant. The answer is fully responsive, the denial of every material allegation being specific and absolute.

In equity a responsive answer is conclusive in favor of the defendant unless it is overcome by the testimony of two creditable witnesses, or of one witness and such corroborating facts and circumstances as are equal to the testimony of another witness. The plaintiff was the only witness who testified to the making of an agreement by which he acquired any interest in the properties purchased, and all of his testimony in relation thereto was denied by the defendant. In order, therefore, to entitle him to a decree for an account it was necessary, first that his testimony should clearly show that a partnership agreement had been made as alleged in the bill, and corroborated by facts or circumstances secondly that his testimony should be established by indisputable evidence.

The appellant's contention is that as to both of these essentials there was an entire failure.

THE TURNING POINT OF THE WHOLE CASE

The turning point of the case was the relation of the parties to each other in the purchase of the stock of the Ohio Valley Gas company. As to this, the allegation is that there was a partnership agreement to unite their credit, efforts and influence, and to divide equally the profits of management and sale. Upon this allegation the whole case rests. In considering the plaintiff's testimony in relation to this subject it is important to understand the condition of the company and the relation of the parties to it. The capital of the Ohio Valley Gas company was $1,000,000, divided into 20,000 shares, 19,000 of which were owned by the Guaranty Trust company, of Philadelphia. The gas company was not prosperous. It had many miles of pipe, and a market for all the gas it could furnish, but the supply of gas was insufficient, and its increase by the purchase of new territory and the drilling of more wells involved an expenditure that the trust company was unwilling to make. The plaintiff was president of the gas company and for several years had been in charge of its affairs. He had six shares of stock.

The defendant was not a stockholder, but a creditor of the company. The total indebtedness of the company was $56,000, and of this there was due the defendant $23,000 for drilling wells for which he received the company's notes, and had them discounted by a Pittsburgh bank. The bank was pressing him for payment, and declined to assent to a renewal of the notes. Under these circumstances the parties met in Pittsburgh in January, 1896, and discussed the payment of the notes and the condition of the company. The plaintiff told the defendant that the company could not then pay the notes and that he saw no future for the company, unless more money could be put into the business, and that the trust company was unwilling to do this. The defendant then suggested that they together purchase the stock, and the plaintiff declined to consider the proposition until he was made certain that arrangements could be made to get enough money to put the company on a paying basis. What then took place is best known by the plaintiff's testimony. "Mr. Smith said to me after we had been talking along this line: 'What is the matter with you? And I buying the stock of the Ohio Valley Gas company?' and I replied to him that it was not much good for him and me to buy the stock of the Ohio Valley Gas company, unless we had money to put it on a paying basis to operate it properly. He said he believed he could get the money to do that from Mellon's bank, and asked me, if he could do that, whether I would be willing to go in and take a half interest in the company, and he and I run it together; and I replied to him that it would be time enough for him and me to talk about the interest he and I should take after he found he could make these financial arrangements, and after we found we could buy the stock from the Philadelphia people."

BORROWED MONEY

The same day the defendant arranged to borrow enough money to buy the stock and went to Philadelphia to negotiate for it, taking the plaintiff with him. The plaintiff advised the trust company to sell its stock for $75,000, unless it was willing to advance more money, and it sold to the plaintiff for that price. It is clear that at this time no agreement of partnership or joint interest had been entered into. The defendant purchased the stock with his own money or on his own credit, and the plaintiff had distinctly declined to consider any proposition until it was ascertained both that the stock could be purchased and that sufficient money could be raised to enlarge the plant.

The second conversation between the parties took place in a sleeping car on their way home from Philadelphia. The plaintiff's testimony concerning it is as follows: "Mr. Smith said to me: 'Now, we have arranged to buy the stock of the Philadelphia people, and I want you to stay with me and the company, and we will operate the company or put it in shape to sell it, and if we can make money by operating the company or by getting it in shape to sell it, and do sell it, I want you to have a half interest in it.' And I said to Mr. Smith: 'My ex-

SECOND DEFEAT OF LOCAL TEAM

Yesterdays' Game, Owing to Costly Errors, Easily Won By Visitors.

BARKER GOT DISCUSTED

And Refused to Pitch After the Fifth Inning—Ashbaugh Succeeded Him, But Also Received Poor Support. Score 12 to 4 at End of Fiasco.

For the second time the East Liverpool base ball team met defeat at the hands of the Royal Tiger Giants in the game played yesterday afternoon at the West End park. It was Manager Walsh's expectation to have his team strengthened yesterday, but other than securing Catcher May, of the Monaca club, the lineup was little different from that of yesterday.

Godwin was unable to take part in the game and Stillwell was placed at short. His playing was a sad disappointment to everybody, and at the fifth inning he was taken out of the game. Barker, who was in the pitcher's box for the locals, became so disgusted that he quit in the middle of the game and allowed Ashbaugh to take his place. Barker succeeded Stillwell at short and played the position with credit.

Ashbaugh pitched a good game, but the heavy hitting colored men soon got after his curves and scored runs with aggravating regularity. Had the local team played Wednesday and yesterday as they did with the Monacas, the Tigers would have had a hard time winning. It was not due to their good playing that secured them the easy victories; errors are alone responsible.

The players of the colored team told Manager Walsh that they had not met an amateur team this year that played a stronger game than the East Liverpool boys. The fact that the Michigan aggregation has nothing else to do but play ball is ample reason why they should put up a fast game. They had to play hard for their earned runs, and admitted that if the locals had kept their errors down the games would have been close ones.

Tomorrow the local team will play at Silver Lake, the Brooklyns, of Cleveland, being their opponents. Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week the McKeesport deaf mutes will play the East Liverpools on the West End grounds.

Two-base hits—Johnson. Three-base hits—Buckner and May. Double plays—T. Davis and Wallace; Moore, Grant and Robinson; Grant, Moore and Robinson. Bases on balls—By Buckner, 3. Hit by pitched ball—By Buckner, 1; by Ashbaugh, 1. Struck out—By Barker, 4; by Buckner, 4. Wild pitches—Ashbaugh, 1.—Umpire—Howard.

CAUGHT IN CLOUD BURST

Two Men Driving Through a Creek Near Bethany Narrowly Escaped Death.

A small cloud burst near Bethany, W. Va., Wednesday came near wiping out the lives of two men. As William A. Moore and Homer Carman approached McFadden run, a little stream which crosses the road and empties into Buffalo creek, they discovered that it was rising, but had no thought that it was dangerous. Just as the buggy struck the water they noticed a tremendous flood rushing at them like a torrent, and in a moment the buggy was upset.

With the rapidity of a race horse they were rushed and jammed for a hundred yards until the buggy was a perfect wreck and they were almost drowned, with just enough life left to cut the harness. The horse staggered to dry land, where they finally managed to drag their weakened and almost exhausted frames.

Decision Reserved.

The hearing in the case of Patrick Fitzpatrick and Mervin Collins, who engaged in a lively scrap at Wellsville Wednesday night, was held this morning before Mayor Dennis. Several witnesses were called and the hearing was a long one. The mayor reserved his decision.

THE BIG CIRCUS ARRIVED TODAY

Forepaugh and Sells Bros.' 2Cth Century Colossus at West End Park.

GREAT PARADE AT NOON

Which Was Witnessed By Thousands of People—All Streets Crowded. Cortege Was Imposing And Many Features Were New.

The Forepaugh & Sells Bros.' big circus arrived in the city at about 6 o'clock this morning from Canal Dover. It required three trains of cars to carry the monster collection of wagons, cages, animals, etc., and it was almost 10 o'clock before the paraphernalia was unloaded.

At about noon the parade started from the West End grounds, coming up to Franklin street, where a turn was made into Sixth. Every street through which the parade passed was thronged with people. The cortege was composed of features of a strictly up-to-date nature and vastly interesting.

A bugle band headed the procession. Mother Goose followed and Cinderella, Red Riding Hood and other fairyland folk fell in behind. There were men and women mounted, animals from all climes and of all kinds, horsemen who drove a dozen horses with ease, chariots with women drivers, one hunch, two hunch and three hunch camels, elephants of all sizes and dispositions, open cages showing all the species of the animal kingdom, a "Soo-see" band with here and there an orchestra sandwiched in and the procession bringing up with a steam piano, which was dispensing music galore.

Several of the animal cages were open, exposing lions, tigers, panthers, leopards and other ferocious beasts. The horses were far superior to those of the average circus and in fact the parade in its entirety was greatly in excess of the expectations of the majority of persons who witnessed it.

A large crowd attended the performance this afternoon.

SIX GRIEVANCES

BROUGHT BEFORE THE BOARD LAST EVENING.

There Will Be 25 or 30 All Told, And Will Receive Attention At Once.

The standing committee met last evening at the Potters' club with all members present. The arbitrators began their work by making S. M. Ferguson chairman and T. J. Duffy secretary.

But six grievances were brought before the board last evening. The committee had expected a much larger number.

According to the plan adopted by the new board these six differences will be adjusted tomorrow afternoon. This course will be pursued in the future until all of the 25 or 30 grievances known to be pending will have been settled.

The committee will first hear the cases and take all the information bearing thereon, and at a meeting held later will adjust them.

It is gratifying to both the Brotherhood members and the manufacturers to know that at last a board has been selected that will serve, and that as soon as the disputes which have accumulated during the past four or five months have been settled it will be an easy matter to look after the work as it comes up.

WOMAN'S ARM FOUND

Village Near Pittsburg Excited By a Gruesome Mystery.

Pittsburg, August 19.—The village of Six Mile Ferry, a small place between Pittsburg and Homestead on the Monongahela river, has a mystery that looks like murder. On Sunday afternoon a man in the village when going through a ravine found the arm of a woman. The arm looked as though it had been cut off at the shoulder by a sharp instrument. At first the finder thought the arm had been thrown into the river by a medical student or physician, but the fact that the arm was incased by a sleeve aroused his suspicions, and he began to investigate. A short distance from where he found the arm a silk dress of the latest fashion and of excellent material was found under a lot of bushes.

It seems that after the finder reported his discovery, a number of men of the village went to the place and began investigation. Some blood stains on the grass, or what seemed to be blood, together with the arm and the dress, made the villagers think that murder had been committed. The fact that the articles were found in the ravine, where crimes are said to have taken place, place color to the murder theory. The ravine has been searched, but no body found.

NO CHANGE NOTED

IN THE SITUATION AT THE WELLSVILLE MILL.

Union Men Apparently More Determined Than Ever to Stay Away.

The situation as regards the strike is unchanged today. The men were stirred by President Shaffer's speech yesterday. It is said that two of the non-union men who were working quit today. No other union men have gone back and it appears that they are stronger in their intention to stay out of the mill than ever before.

The report in a local paper that Julius Goetz had approached a business man in town and had asked him to join in a movement to persuade the men to go back to work has incensed that gentleman very much. He says that he believes it would be better for the men to go back to work. Several of the business men give credence to the report that, if the trouble continues here, the mill will be moved to some other place. They say that the mill is the principal support of Wellsville and that just at this time, when the citizens are trying to obtain new industries here, it would be a shame to have the greatest industry of the city moved away.

On the other hand some of them are inclined to believe Persifor F. Smith's statement that if things go right here, the Dennison mill will be moved to this city.

President Shaffer said yesterday that Wellsville is recognized as the strike center. He said that the events that might happen here in the next few weeks were of wide importance. All eyes are turned to this locality and the events here may determine the whole character of the trouble elsewhere.

FIERCE STORM

ELECTRICITY AND RAIN DO DAMAGE AT SALEM.

A Burst Sewer Causes Cellars to Be Flooded And Pavements Torn Up.

Salem, July 19. (Special)—A severe downpour of rain, almost resembling a cloudburst, accompanied by fierce lightning, visited this city yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. Several houses were struck by lightning, but no great damage was done. Many trees were splintered.

The worst results of the storm were the flooding of cellars and the tearing up of pavements. East Main street was flooded for two blocks and a number of cellars had to be pumped out by fire engines. On Depot street the storm sewer burst and tore up considerable paving. The storm sewers were utterly inadequate to carry off the rain fall.

FOR THE FOURTH TIME

The Patterson Road Case Is Again Before Court at Lisbon.

Lisbon, July 19.—(Special)—The Patterson road case is on trial in the probate court today. John Patterson, of Elkrum, seeks to have a road run through the Pollock farm to his premises which he now reaches by a private driveway.

The case has been tried three times and each time the road has been refused.

YACHT CAPSIZED

And Its Owner, Daughters And Crew Were Drowned.

New Haven, July 19.—(Special)—Arthur C. Colburn, of Philadelphia; his daughters Ida and Annetta, Captain Flint and a sailor, were drowned this morning by the capsizing of the yacht Venetia in Long Island Sound.

President Shaffer Addressed a Crowded Meeting at City Hall.

MUCH EXCELLENT COUNSEL

The Strikers Advised to Remain Away From Saloons and Be Gentlemen.

MILL SITUATION UNCHANGED

Wellsville a Center of Interest in the Great Struggle—The Union Men Still Remain Firm—Very Few Men Are Working.

The greatest labor meeting ever held in Wellsville was that at which President Theodore J. Shaffer, of the Amalgamated Association, spoke yesterday afternoon in the city hall.

The meeting in the city hall, Wellsville, yesterday afternoon was the most important and best attended of any held so far by the rolling millmen. The hall was packed. Every seat was taken and the rear was filled with those who were compelled to stand. At the reporters' table were 10 correspondents, six being from other cities.

The speakers, Theodore Shaffer, president of the Amalgamated Association, and John Chappell, vice president for this district, arrived on the 3 o'clock train.

Mr. Chappell, in opening the meeting said: "It is a pleasure to me to see such a gathering of workmen as this here in Wellsville. Had a meeting of this character been held here three weeks ago many people would have considered it a crime. The outlook is much better today than it has been since the beginning of the present trouble. Victory is nearer and it is sure to come to those who are in the right."

National Trustee John H. Morgan read the resolutions that were adopted by the Trades and Labor Council of East Liverpool endorsing the Amalgamated Association, and which were printed in the News Review yesterday. Then he addressed the meeting with a short speech which was only given to afford President Shaffer a little rest after his ride on the train. He said:

"I want to say that we certainly have the good will of the men in Wellsville and East Liverpool. It is only what we deserved and what we anticipated. We have the good will of the citizens all over the United States. As I have said here before, the history of the Amalgamated Association is well known. This is not a quarrel with our employers as a result of any radical measures taken by the association; it is not a quarrel over any financial trouble; it is a fight for the very principles upon which the Amalgamated Association is founded—upon which every labor organization throughout the United States is founded.

THE BENEFITS OF LABOR ORGANIZATIONS

"We desire a union wage for a union day's work. If, for instance, a man owns a mill in Chester and one in Wellsville, he cannot run one of them union and the other non-union. Either the union must make the non-union conform to their way or else the company will make the union conform to non-union ways of doing business. We don't desire to stand back and see

Full Text of the Important Decision Rendered in Philadelphia.

THE WHOLE COURT AGREES

Ohio Valley Gas Company Deal the Point on Which All Turned.

NO PROOF OF AN AGREEMENT

Strong Enough, in the Court's Opinion, to Sustain the Contention of the Plaintiff—Decree of the Lower Court Reversed.

The opinion of Judge Fell, of the Pennsylvania supreme court, in the case of Albert G. Mason versus Chas. A. Smith, has been received in this city. The entire seven judges concurred in the finding. The decision is as follows:

It is averred in the bill filed that in February, 1896, the plaintiff and defendant, being then the owners of a part of the stock of the Ohio Valley Gas company, entered into a parole agreement to purchase the remainder of the stock and to divide equally the profits which should arise from the management of the company, or the sale of its stock; that in pursuance of this agreement they united their credit, efforts and influence, purchased the stock and managed the company until October, 1899, when they sold the same at a profit of $255,000; that with a part of the profits of this sale they purchased a large tract of land in West Virginia, built a pottery, paid the subscriptions on the stock of a corporation which they formed, known as the Taylor, Lee & Smith company, and purchased the stock and property of the Knowles, Taylor & Anderson company, an Ohio corporation engaged in manufacturing sewer pipe, which stock they afterwards sold for $175,000; that all of these purchases and sales were made in the defendant's name, and that he holds the title to all of the joint property unsold, except the stock of the Taylor Lee & Smith company; that the defendant is investing the joint property and assets in other enterprises without the consent of the plaintiff, and refuses to give him a statement of their mutual accounts, and that the share of the profits of these enterprises to which the plaintiff is entitled amounts to $175,000 or $200,000. The prayers of the bill are for a receiver, an accounting and general relief.

PLAINTIFF'S AVERMENTS

WERE ALL DENIED

The answer contains a distinct and complete denial of all the averments of ownership, joint purchase or interest, and avers that all the stock, lands, etc., referred to in the bill were bought by the defendant with his own funds, or upon his own credit, and for his own account; that there was never any agreement, or understanding of any nature or kind with the plaintiff that he was to receive any compensation for his services in connection with these transactions, or any profits arising therefrom; that the only services he rendered were in matters of detail after the negotiations were completed, and that these were rendered voluntarily by him in expectation that his position as an officer of some of the companies connected with the property would be assured if they became vested in the defendant. The answer is fully responsive, the denial of every material allegation being specific and absolute.

In equity a responsive answer is conclusive in favor of the defendant unless it is overcome by the testimony of two creditable witnesses, or of one witness and such corroborating facts and circumstances as are equal to the testimony of another witness. The plaintiff was the only witness who testified to the making of an agreement by which he acquired any interest in the properties purchased, and all of his testimony in relation thereto was denied by the defendant. In order, therefore, to entitle him to a decree for an account it was necessary, first that his testimony should clearly show that a partnership agreement had been made as alleged in the bill, and corroborated by facts or circumstances secondly that his testimony should be established by indisputable evidence.

THE TURNING POINT OF THE WHOLE CASE

The turning point of the case was the relation of the parties to each other in the purchase of the stock of the Ohio Valley Gas company. As to this, the allegation is that there was a partnership agreement to unite their credit, efforts and influence, and to divide equally the profits of management and sale. Upon this allegation the whole case rests. In considering the plaintiff's testimony in relation to this subject it is important to understand the condition of the company and the relation of the parties to it. The capital of the Ohio Valley Gas company was $1,000,000, divided into 20,000 shares, 19,000 of which were owned by the Guaranty Trust company, of Philadelphia. The gas company was not prosperous. It had many miles of pipe, and a market for all the gas it could furnish, but the supply of gas was insufficient, and its increase by the purchase of new territory and the drilling of more wells involved an expenditure that the trust company was unwilling to make. The plaintiff was president of the gas company and for several years had been in charge of its affairs. He had six shares of stock.

The defendant was not a stockholder, but a creditor of the company. The total indebtedness of the company was $56,000, and of this there was due the defendant $23,000 for drilling wells for which he received the company's notes, and had them discounted by a Pittsburgh bank. The bank was pressing him for payment, and declined to assent to a renewal of the notes. Under these circumstances the parties met in Pittsburgh in January, 1896, and discussed the payment of the notes and the condition of the company. The plaintiff told the defendant that the company could not then pay the notes and that he saw no future for the company, unless more money could be put into the business, and that the trust company was unwilling to do this. The defendant then suggested that they together purchase the stock, and the plaintiff declined to consider the proposition until he was made certain that arrangements could be made to get enough money to put the company on a paying basis. What then took place is best known by the plaintiff's testimony. "Mr. Smith said to me after we had been talking along this line: 'What is the matter with you and I buying the stock of the Ohio Valley Gas company?' and I replied to him that it was not much good for him and me to buy the stock of the Ohio Valley Gas company, unless we had money to put it on a paying basis to operate it properly. He said he believed he could get the money to do that from Mellon's bank, and asked me, if he could do that, whether I would be willing to go in and take a half interest in the company, and he and I run it together; and I replied to him that it would be time enough for him and me to talk about the interest he and I should take after he found he could make these financial arrangements, and after we found we could buy the stock from the Philadelphia people."

TO BUY THE STOCK

The same day the defendant arranged to borrow enough money to buy the stock and went to Philadelphia to negotiate for it, taking the plaintiff with him. The plaintiff advised the trust company to sell its stock for $75,000, unless it was willing to advance more money, and it sold to the plaintiff for that price. It is clear that at this time no agreement of partnership or joint interest had been entered into. The defendant purchased the stock with his own money or on his own credit, and the plaintiff had distinctly declined to consider any proposition until it was ascertained both that the stock could be purchased and that sufficient money could be raised to enlarge the plant.

According to the plan adopted by the new board these six differences will be adjusted tomorrow afternoon. This course will be pursued in the future until all of the 25 or 30 grievances known to be pending will have been settled.

The committee will first hear the cases and take all the information bearing thereon, and at a meeting held later will adjust them.

It is gratifying to both the Brotherhood members and the manufacturers to know that at last a board has been selected that will serve, and that as soon as the disputes which have accumulated during the past four or five months have been settled it will be an easy matter to look after the work as it comes up.

WOMAN'S ARM FOUND

Village Near Pittsburg Excited By a Gruesome Mystery.

Pittsburg, August 19.—The village of Six Mile Ferry, a small place between Pittsburg and Homestead on the Monongahela river, has a mystery that looks like murder. On Sunday afternoon a man in the village when going through a ravine found the arm of a woman. The arm looked as though it had been cut off at the shoulder by a sharp instrument. At first the finder thought the arm had been thrown into the river by a medical student or physician, but the fact that the arm was incased by a sleeve aroused his suspicions, and he began to investigate. A short distance from where he found the arm a silk dress of the latest fashion and of excellent material was found under a lot of bushes.

It seems that after the finder reported his discovery, a number of men of the village went to the place and began investigation. Some blood stains on the grass, or what seemed to be blood, together with the arm and the dress, made the villagers think that murder had been committed. The fact that the articles were found in the ravine, where crimes are said to have taken place, place color to the murder theory. The ravine has been searched, but no body found.

NO CHANGE NOTED

IN THE SITUATION AT THE WELLSVILLE MILL.

The situation as regards the strike is unchanged today. The men were stirred by President Shaffer's speech yesterday. It is said that two of the non-union men who were working quit today. No other union men have gone back and it appears that they are stronger in their intention to stay out of the mill than ever before.

The report in a local paper that Julius Goetz had approached a business man in town and had asked him to join in a movement to persuade the men to go back to work has incensed that gentleman very much. He says that he believes it would be better for the men to go back to work. Several of the business men give credence to the report that, if the trouble continues here, the mill will be moved to some other place. They say that the mill is the principal support of Wellsville and that just at this time, when the citizens are trying to obtain new industries here, it would be a shame to have the greatest industry of the city moved away.

On the other hand some of them are inclined to believe Persifor F. Smith's statement that if things go right here, the Dennison mill will be moved to this city.

President Shaffer said yesterday that Wellsville is recognized as the strike center. He said that the events that might happen here in the next few weeks were of wide importance. All eyes are turned to this locality and the events here may determine the whole character of the trouble elsewhere.

FIEBGE STORM

ELECTRICITY AND RAIN DO DAMAGE AT SALEM.

A Burst Sewer Causes Cellars to Be Flooded And Pavements Torn Up.

Salem, July 19. (Special)—A severe downpour of rain, almost resembling a cloudburst, accompanied by fierce lightning, visited this city yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. Several houses were struck by lightning, but no great damage was done. Many trees were splintered.

The worst results of the storm were the flooding of cellars and the tearing up of pavements. East Main street was flooded for two blocks and a number of cellars had to be pumped out by fire engines. On Depot street the storm sewer burst and tore up considerable paving. The storm sewers were utterly inadequate to carry off the rain fall.

FOR THE FOURTH TIME

The Patterson Road Case Is Again Before Court at Lisbon.

Lisbon, July 19.—(Special)—The Patterson road case is on trial in the probate court today. John Patterson, of Elkrun, seeks to have a road run through the Pollock farm to his premises which he now reaches by a private driveway.

The case has been tried three times and each time the road has been refused.

YACHT CAPSIZED

And Its Owner, Daughters And Crew Were Drowned.

New Haven, July 19.—(Special)—Arthur C. Colburn, of Philadelphia; his daughters Ida and Annetta, Captain Flint and a sailor, were drowned this morning by the capsizing of the yacht Venetia in Long Island Sound.

President Shaffer Addressed a Crowded Meeting at City Hall.

MUCH EXCELLENT COUNSEL

MILL SITUATION UNCHANGED

The greatest labor meeting ever held in Wellsville was that at which President Theodore J. Shaffer, of the Amalgamated Association, spoke yesterday afternoon in the city hall.

The meeting in the city hall, Wellsville, yesterday afternoon was the most important and best attended of any held so far by the rolling millmen. The hall was packed. Every seat was taken and the rear was filled with those who were compelled to stand. At the reporters' table were 10 correspondents, six being from other cities.

The speakers, Theodore Shaffer, president of the Amalgamated Asso-

Mr. Chappell, in opening the meeting said: "It is a pleasure to me to see such a gathering of workmen as this here in Wellsville. Had a meeting of this character been held here three weeks ago many people would have considered it a crime. The outlook is much better today than it has been since the beginning of the present trouble. Victory is nearer and it is sure to come to those who are in the right."

National Trustee John H. Morgan read the resolutions that were adopted by the Trades and Labor Council of East Liverpool endorsing the Amalgamated Association, and which were printed in the News Review yesterday. Then he addressed the meeting with a short speech which was only given to afford President Shaffer a little rest after his ride on the train. He said:

"I want to say that we certainly have the good will of the men in Wellsville and East Liverpool. It is only what we deserved and what we anticipated. We have the good will of the citizens all over the United States. As I have said here before, the history of the Amalgamated Association is well known. This is not a quarrel with our employers as a result of any radical measures taken by the association; it is not a quarrel over any financial trouble; it is a fight for the very principles upon which the Amalgamated Association is founded—upon which every labor organization throughout the United States is founded.

THE BENEFITS OF ### LABOR ORGANIZATIONS

"We desire a union wage for a union day's work. If, for instance, a man owns a mill in Chester and one in Wellsville, he cannot run one of them union and the other non-union. Either the union must make the non-union conform to their way or else the company will make the union conform to non-union ways of doing business. We don't desire to stand back and see

The squirrel is of a very peculiar color and the people who see it are unable to agree as to whether it is a red squirrel or a small gray squirrel. The pet was knocked down by a broom and caught at the pavilion early yesterday morning, after an exciting chase by the entire park force who were armed with brooms and clubs and all bent on the destruction of the harmless little animal, who had ventured from the woods to the building in search of food. It was stunned by a blow from the broom when caught, but recovered, and it is thought it will survive the effects.

Will Allison met with an exciting experience with a nest of copperheads which he discovered while cutting briars on his farm, two miles east of Chester yesterday. There were five of the venomous reptiles in the bunch which were first discovered by a dog belonging to Mr. Allison. The canine was bitten. Mr. Allison procured a stout club and succeeded in dispatching the entire number of the serpent family, but it required some swift work on his part.

He is now in a dilemma over what to do with the dog, which he fears may go mad from the effects of the wound.

Several residents of the lower part of Chester report having seen an enormous snake on the river bank. They think it escaped from one of the circuses which recently exhibited there. Others say it is a snakehead product.

Popular Lisbon Couple Wedded.

Lisbon, July 19.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Aldridge was the scene of a happy event Wednesday when their daughter, Miss Flora Elizabeth Aldridge, was married to Frank S. Duncan. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. P. Anderson, of the Presbyterian church. Both young people are well known in Lisbon and very popular.

Much Damage By Lightning.

Beaver Falls, Pa., July 19.—During a heavy thunderstorm lightning struck the plant of the Union Drawn Steel company, and damaged it to some extent. It also struck James Armstrong's barn in Chippewa township and killed one of his cattle. The barn took fire, but Armstrong and his neighbors extinguished the flames before much damage was done.

Wanted on Two Charges.

Youngstown, July 19.—After a lively chase for several blocks, in which the police were aided by citizens, W. S. Lloyd, alias Haney, was arrested charged with tapping the till of his employer for $60. The police report that Haney was wanted in Beaver Falls for shooting his brother.

DUNCANVILLE NOW

A Scene of Interest in the Great Strike—Shaffer There Today.

Pittsburg, July 19.—The center of the strike situation was temporarily shifted to Wellsville yesterday, owing to the mass meeting of strikers, which President Theodore J. Shaffer, of the Amalgamated association, addressed. Duncanville will become a center today to a lesser degree, owing to the intention of the Amalgamated association to establish a lodge there. National Organizer John Pierce was sent to Duncanville last night to organize the men in the Portage iron works. This plant is owned by the American Steel Hoop company and employs about 800 or 900 men. A request that the men be organized was sent to President Shaffer yesterday. The men are anxious to join the strike movement.

In case the Duncanville mill is closed today all of the plants of the American Steel Hoop company will be idle. All of the plants of the American Tin Plate company are idle save one. The sheet plants operating are at Vandergrift, Apollo, Leechburg, Saltsburg, Scottsdale and Old Meadows. All of the men now striking are holding firm, and the Amalgamated officials have not the least fear that any of the idle plants can be started until the word is given by the association.

U. S. STEEL CORPORATION

WILL NOT ARBITRATE.

New York, July 19.—The following official statement, according to the Journal and Advertiser, in its issue yesterday morning, has been given out by a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.: "The United States Steel corporation will not consent to any arbitration of the present difficulty. There is nothing to arbitrate. The company stands willing to agree to the demands of the men as to wages and hours. If there is any other question at issue, it is merely a sentimental one, raised by the Amalgamated association."

CARNEGIE WON'T

INTERFERE IN STRIKE.

New York, July 19.—Mr. Andrew Carnegie, on being approached at his home in Scotland by a representative of the Journal and Advertiser, and asked to express an opinion with regard to the strike, formally declined to be interviewed. He was asked if he would interfere and replied: "I must firmly refuse to do so. On being asked if he considered the men right in their demands he said: 'I will not discuss the strike.'"

TWIN TROUBLES

They Are Often Together These Days.

They Work Havoc All Over the Country And in East Liverpool

Weak, nervous, the digestion out of order—that is what ails a host of people. It comes about in this way—first from overwork or other causes, the nerves are burdened beyond endurance, nerve waste is not replaced, nerve force is weakened, then the stomach loses its nerve controlling power and indigestion follows with failing strength. When first Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills came to East Liverpool people could hardly be convinced that this great medicine would remove these troubles—Now it is an accepted fact because of their cure of very stubborn cases no other medicine would influence. Margaret Tracy, of 178 Seventh street, East Liverpool, O., says: "One of my family was very nervous, subject to nervous spells—weak and miserable—could not sleep and the digestion was very poor. I asked the invalid to take Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills I got at Larkins' drug store, corner Sixth and East Market streets. The result was splendid—the medicine built her up—enriched the blood—made the nerves strong—gave restful sleep and so strengthened the stomach that digestion is perfect—the old time languid, played out feeling has given place to one of strength and energy and as a result we are more than pleased with the medicine."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

SOME STOCKS WERE ERRATIC.

Gyrations of Certain Ones Caused Speculative Judgment to Be Unsettled Thursday.

New York, July 19.—Speculative judgment on Thursday's stock market was unsettled and inconclusive under the influence of the erratic gyrations of Union Pacific, St. Paul and, to a lesser extent, other railroads immediately affected by the Northern Pacific settlement announced late Wednesday. The influence of that announcement was dominant at the opening of the stock market, as was shown by the congested buying of the stocks of the railroads affected and of the steel stocks. The simultaneous purchases of Union Pacific at the opening were of 10,000 shares at 103 1/4, compared with 102 1/4 Wednesday night, and of St. Paul 8,000 shares at 165 1/2 to 165, compared with 163 1/4 Wednesday night. United States Steel was also dealt in to the extent of 8,000 shares, varying in prices from 40 1/2 to 41 1/4, compared with 40 1/2 Wednesday night. The price of this stock at the opening was the highest of the day and it was under steady pressure through the mutations of the market, getting down nearly a point under Wednesday night and closing at a fractional net loss. The whole market felt the effect almost immediately of enormous realizing sales, and the successive declines suggested the conjecture that inside interests which bought stocks Wednesday were selling out to take profits. The belief prevailed in the board that the large capitalists who supported the market on Monday and Tuesday by buying practically all offerings of the leading stocks were tightening their load, taking advantage of the effect of the Northern Pacific announcement to reduce their holdings. The rather palpable manipulation of the market and the circulation of vague intimations that further disclosures were coming of additional arrangements under the Northern Pacific settlement added to this impression. Rather frank admissions were forthcoming that the announcement of the Northern Pacific settlement was timed with a view to quieting apprehensions and checking the uneasiness in the stock market against the earlier decision of those interested to withhold the announcement until a later period. This gave color to the belief that the policy thus adopted to rally the stock market had in view as well as the moral effect upon the steel strike situation of an advance in the steel stocks. These considerations served to take the edge off of the announcement of the Northern Pacific settlement. There was a period after midday when the general level of prices had receded well below Wednesday night, even Union Pacific and St. Paul showing losses. The weakness in Atchison, Rock Island, the coalers and some of the southern lines were quite pronounced. It was late in the day when Union Pacific began its final upward movement. The demand for the stock was apparently insatiable, blocks of 1,000 to 4,000 shares succeeding each other in quick succession. Every effort was also apparently to bid up the price of the stocks. It touched 109 before the close and St. Paul was lifted to 168 1/4 and Southern Pacific to 57. The market rallied in sympathy, but did not generally get back to the best. Chicago and Northwestern rose 6 and General Electric 8 1/2. The buoyant rise in Union Pacific revived the belief in further developments in the community of interest plan in the west. The closing was feverish and irregular below the best.

How many people know that the custom of throwing rice at a wedding symbolizes not the expression of good luck, but it is a metaphorical flight of arrows shot at the bridegroom. In uncivilized ages most nations were accustomed to the forcible capture of a bride by her lover, and the attempts on the part of her male relatives to prevent her husband from carrying her away is typified by a volley of rice instead of more fatal missiles.

DUNCANSVILLE NOW

Pittsburg, July 19.—The center of the strike situation was temporarily shifted to Wellsville yesterday, owing to the mass meeting of strikers, which President Theodore J. Shaffer, of the Amalgamated association, addressed. Duncansville will become a center today to a lesser degree, owing to the intention of the Amalgamated association to establish a lodge there. National Organizer John Pierce was sent to Duncansville last night to organize the men in the Portage iron works. This plant is owned by the American Steel Hoop company and employs about 800 or 900 men. A request that the men be organized was sent to President Shaffer yesterday. The men are anxious to join the strike movement.

In case the Duncansville mill is closed today all of the plants of the American Steel Hoop company will be idle. All of the plants of the American Tin Plate company are idle save one. The sheet plants operating are at Vandergrift, Apollo, Leechburg, Saltsburg, Scottsdale and Old Meadows. All of the men now striking are holding firm, and the Amalgamated officials have not the least fear that any of the idle plants can be started until the word is given by the association.

U. S. STEEL CORPORATION WILL NOT ARBITRATE.

New York, July 19.—The following official statement, according to the Journal and Advertiser, in its issue yesterday morning, has been given out by a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.: "The United States Steel corporation will not consent to any arbitration of the present difficulty. There is nothing to arbitrate. The company stands willing to agree to the demands of the men as to wages and hours. If there is any other question at issue, it is merely a sentimental one, raised by the Amalgamated association."

CARNEGIE WON'T INTERFERE IN STRIKE.

New York, July 19.—Mr. Andrew Carnegie, on being approached at his home in Scotland by a representative of the Journal and Advertiser and asked to express an opinion with regard to the strike, formally declined to be interviewed. He was asked if he would interfere and replied: "I must firmly refuse to do so. On being asked if he considered the men right in their demands he said: 'I will not discuss the strike.'"

TWIN TROUBLES

They Are Often Together These Days. They Work Havoc All Over the Country And in East Liverpool

Weak, nervous, the digestion out of order—that is what ails a host of people. It comes about in this way—first from overwork or other causes, the nerves are burdened beyond endurance, nerve waste is not replaced, nerve force is weakened, then the stomach loses its nerve controlling power and indigestion follows with failing strength. When first Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills came to East Liverpool people could hardly be convinced that this great medicine would remove these troubles—Now it is an accepted fact because of their cure of very stubborn cases no other medicine would influence. Margaret Tracy, of 178 Seventh street, East Liverpool, O., says: "One of my family was very nervous, subject to nervous spells—weak and miserable—could not sleep and the digestion was very poor. I asked the invalid to take Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills I got at Larkins' drug store, corner Sixth and East Market streets. The result was splendid—the medicine built her up—enriched the blood—made the nerves strong—gave restful sleep and so strengthened the stomach that digestion is perfect—the old time languid, played out feeling has given place to one of strength and energy and as a result we are more than pleased with the medicine."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

SOME STOCKS WERE ERRATIC.

New York, July 19.—Speculative judgment on Thursday's stock market was unsettled and inconclusive under the influence of the erratic gyrations of Union Pacific, St. Paul, and to a lesser extent, other railroads immediately affected by the Northern Pacific settlement announced late Wednesday. The influence of that announcement was dominant at the opening of the stock market, as was shown by the congested buying of the stocks of the railroads affected and of the steel stocks. The simultaneous purchases of Union Pacific at the opening were of 10,000 shares at 103 1/4, compared with 102 3/4 Wednesday night, and of St. Paul 8,000 shares at 165 1/2 to 165, compared with 163 3/4 Wednesday night. United States Steel was also dealt in to the extent of 8,000 shares, varying in prices from 40 1/2 to 41 1/4, compared with 40 3/4 Wednesday night. The price of this stock at the opening was the highest of the day and it was under steady pressure through the mutations of the market, getting down nearly a point under Wednesday night and closing at a fractional net loss. The whole market felt the effect almost immediately of enormous realizing sales, and the successive declines suggested the conjecture that inside interests which bought stocks Wednesday were selling out to take profits. The belief prevailed in the board that the large capitalists who supported the market on Monday and Tuesday by buying practically all offerings of the leading stocks were lightening their load, taking advantage of the effect of the Northern Pacific announcement to reduce their holdings. The rather palpable manipulation of the market and the circulation of vague intimations that further disclosures were coming of additional arrangements under the Northern Pacific settlement added to this impression. Rather frank admissions were forthcoming that the announcement of the Northern Pacific settlement was timed with a view to quieting apprehensions and checking the uneasiness in the stock market interested to withhold the announcement until a later period. This gave color to the belief that the policy thus adopted to rally the stock market had in view as well as the moral effect upon the steel strike situation of an advance in the steel stocks. These considerations served to take the edge off of the announcement of the Northern Pacific settlement. There was a period after midday when the general level of prices had receded well below Wednesday night, even Union Pacific and St. Paul showing losses. The weakness in Atchison, Rock Island, the coalers and some of the southern lines were quite pronounced. It was late in the day when Union Pacific began its final upward movement. The demand for the stock was apparently insatiable, blocks of 1,000 to 4,000 shares succeeding each other in quick succession. Every effort was also apparently to bid up the price of the stocks. It touched 109 before the close and St. Paul was lifted to 168 1/4 and Southern Pacific to 57. The market rallied in sympathy, but did not generally get back to the best. Chicago and Northwestern rose 6 and General Electric 8 1/2. The buoyant rise in Union Pacific revived the belief in further developments in the community of interest plan in the west. The closing was feverish and irregular below the best.

Throwing Rice.

How many people know that the custom of throwing rice at a wedding symbolizes not the expression of good luck, but it is a metaphorical flight of arrows shot at the bridegroom. In uncivilized ages most nations were accustomed to the forcible capture of a bride by her lover, and the attempts on the part of her male relatives to prevent her husband from carrying her away is typified by a volley of rice instead of more fatal missiles.

Shoving the Queer.

The game of counterfeiting in this country is played by people of all nationalities, and, although some women and children are used as tools, men take the principal parts. After having made the coin the great problem is how to convert it into good money. The maker rarely takes part in that operation. It is the business of gangs, which consist usually of two persons, known as the "holder" and the "shover."

The holder carries a stock of the counterfeit money, and the shover has one piece. This he takes to a store or a saloon and buys something for a small amount, and when he comes into the street the holder sees him from his position a block away, joins him, receives the good money and hands him another counterfeit.

The object is to work so that the shover, if detected, may plead innocence and prove that the piece is the only one that he has and that he has no other money. Some clever operators go so far as to mix good coin with the bad.

THE EPWORTH LEAGUE

The Convention of 1901 Was Formally Opened at San Francisco.

SACRAMENT OF LORD'S SUPPER

Administered in Three Churches, Before Convention Proper--Large Crowds Attended--Rev. Judson Hill
Led Devotions at Convention.

San Francisco, July 19.—The Epworth League convention of 1901 was formally opened at Mechanics' pavilion. For about a week the tide of travel had been toward San Francisco, until Epworth hosts, 25,000 strong, had been poured into the city ready for the opening services. Arrivals continued at all hours Wednesday night and in the early hours of Thursday morning, but about the last belated train was in and about the last tired traveler had been given a warm welcome by the reception committee before the first number on Thursday's program was called. The great pavilion was decorated and ready. The last tack had been driven and the last bit of color had been added in good time. The vast auditorium, with seats for 10,000 and additional facilities for a chorus of 2,000, which will give special concerts, presented a pleasing sight. The entire auditorium was canopied by American flags, while around the gallery railing red and white bunting was draped gracefully, with here and there shields of America and Great Britain, while their respective flags crossed above them. The stage was hung with gold colored bunting, the state's color.

BISHOP JOYCE.

The throng began assembling early for the opening ceremonies, which began about 2:30 p. m. Thursday, every one enthusiastic and happy. From the torrid temperature of the east to the cool breezes of the Pacific and a temperature of 60, was a welcome and exhilarating change to the pilgrims, if their looks and actions of Thursday may be taken as evidence.

About 11 o'clock Thursday morning three celebrations of the Lord's Supper were held in the First Presbyterian, Central Methodist and the Howard Street Methodist churches. These meetings were purely devotional in character, but were attended by crowds that taxed the capacity of the buildings.

About 1:30 p. m. a missionary conference was held at the headquarters on Larkin street. At the same time a business meeting of the presiding elders and league officials assembled at the pavilion in order to prepare for the day's activities.

When Chairman Filben ascended the platform and rapped for order, about 2:30 p. m., every seat in the building had an occupant, while many others sought standing room. The vast audience greeted the chairman with the Chautauqua salute and then listened to the opening song service. Following was the official program of the day:

2:30 p. m.—Opening of the convention in Mechanics' pavilion. Rev. Thomas Filben presiding. Song service, led by Robert Husband; devotions, led by Rev. Judson Hill; addresses of welcome by Governor Gage, Mayor Phelan, Bishop Hamilton and Rev. J. C. Symonds, of Woodland. Responses on behalf of the Methodist Episcopal church by Bishop I. W. Joyce, Minneapolis; on behalf of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, Rev. H. M. Du Bose, Nashville, Tenn.; on behalf of the Methodist Episcopal church of Canada, Rev. James Henderson, Toronto; on behalf of the colored Methodist Episcopal church, A. A. Carter, Atlanta, Ga.

Thursday evening three meetings were held, at the main pavilion, at the Alhambra theater and at Metropolitan temple. The principal theme at all these meetings was "The Young People's Movement in the Twentieth Century," discussed by Rev. Charles Bayard Mitchell, of Minneapolis; Rev. Alonzo Monk, Nashville, and Rev. C. W. Willard, of Yonkers, N. Y., respectively.

FOSBURG TRIAL BEGAN.

Man Charged With Killing His Own Sister.

Pittsfield, Mass., July 19.—The trial of Robert Stuart Fosburg, charged with killing his own sister, May L. Fosburg, last August, was begun here. The arrest of Fosburg caused a wave of excitement all over New England. The members of the Fosburg family contend that robbers entered the house and attacked Robert Fosburg and his father and that the young woman was killed by a bullet fired by a burglar.

The prosecution is based on the theory that the shooting was the result of a bitter quarrel in which young Fosburg, using his own revolver, shot his sister, although intending the bullet for another member of the family.

Unique Institution Soon to Be Founded by Thomas A. Edison.

Edison, America's greatest inventor, is about to establish an institute for the benefit of other inventors. The purpose of the institution is the helping of struggling inventors rich in genius, but poor in purse, who have not the means of pursuing their investigations to their ultimate end. The institution is to have machinery, laboratories, workshops and a library, all donated by Mr. Edison.

In establishing this institute Mr. Edison shows that he has not forgotten his own early struggles. The great inventor began life poor and entered business as a train boy. He rose to his present position of wealth and fame through hard work and determination. It has long been Mr. Edison's wish to do something for poor inventors, and in his proposed institute he seems to have found his opportunity.

Plans for the Edison institute have been under discussion for some time. M. Gourand, the European partner of Mr. Edison, has had active charge of the matter, and he has interested the French government and President Loubet in the plan. The institute will be one of great magnitude. The laboratory alone will have branches for the various sciences, one department being devoted entirely to electricity, another to chemistry, etc. The workshops will be fitted up in the latest and most approved manner, and the library will be comprehensive enough to include any work of interest or profit to an inventor. The institution in plan and scope will be unique.

No site has yet been selected for the Edison institute. It has been decided to locate it within the limits of the city of Paris in some easily accessible quarter. The institute will, if the expectations of the founder are realized, be in active operation in a year and a half. Every deserving man who is an inventor or who is struggling with some invention which he is prevented from completing by lack of means or of facilities will be welcomed at the institute and will receive aid. It is easy to understand the great amount of good to the world that may flow from the doors of the Edison institute.

DEMOCRATIC BOASTS.

Democratic gains are always numerous in Ohio until after election.
This year they are something marvelous—as they appear on paper. Hon.
Charles H. Grovenor—a shrewd political observer, if there is one in America—has seen these Democratic boasts and sized them up. Prior to his departure for Europe for a brief vacation, he was interviewed in New York, and his remarks on the situation make timely and interesting reading.
The hollowness of the Democratic claims and the exceeding faintness of the rainbow which the clamorous partisans are chasing are plainly exposed by the Athens county veteran. Said he:

"The Democrats of my state are making a great parade of men, as they say, 'brought back to the fold.' Now, as a matter of fact, there isn't one man of those that voted for McKinley as against Bryan who has left the Republican lines. They talk about Judson Harmon, the attorney general in Cleveland's cabinet; Lawrence Maxwell, the ex-solicitor general, or Harlan Cleveland, who was district attorney, or Moses S. Wilson, a prominent Democrat and lawyer. Why, not one of them voted against Bryan."

General Grosvenor remarks that if the Democrats werelight when they made such a hurrah over Bryan's platform of anarchy and free silver, they cannot be right now. And if they were wrong then, nobody is going to trust them now. The Democratic leaders in Ohio have lost the people's confidence. Republicans do not fear them and know that their ante-election boasts are the echo of the same old refrain. They are whistling to keep their courage up. Courage is a grand quality, when it is genuine and not feigned. But it will not win an election.

A COMMENDABLE BOYCOTT.

The boycott is not generally favored as a means of securing desired reforms, and is usually a last resort with those who employ it. But a boycott which has been instituted at Rockford, Ill., will undoubtedly meet with instant popular approval. It is the girls of Rockford who have instituted the boycott and it is the young men of that town against whom it is directed.

A strong organization, which is warmly encouraged by the clergy and backed by parents having marriageable daughters, has been formed for the purpose of socially boycotting all young men who do not behave themselves. Those who use beer or other intoxicants, those who gamble or bet on races, and those who smoke cigarettes all fall under its ban. The society proposes to keep its members informed of the habits of young men and to allow none of them to escape its vigilance. The girls claim they will bar out of their society every young man known to be bad. If they will hold firmly to this determination they can undoubtedly accomplish much good.

EXCELLENT ADVICE.

Wellsville is attracting national attention. It is fortunate indeed for the town in the present great struggle that the direction of the strike is in the hands of prudent and cautious men. A large portion of the address of President Theodore J. Shaffer, of the Amalgamated Association—who,
by the way, was formerly a Wellsville mill hand—to the men on Thursday evening was devoted to advising them to avoid the saloons and to avoid im-temperance in every form, language included. On this point his counsel, like that of all the other union officials who have addressed the mill men, was as sound and judicious as man could utter. The great association which he represents will gain increased respect and esteem under such capable and conservative leadership. It is to be hoped that his excellent advice will be followed, not only in Wellsville, but in every city and town affected by the great strike.

In Great Britain 184,336 persons were committed to prison last year. A surprising fact in the criminal statistics is that Scotland has a far greater number of criminals in proportion to population than any other portion of the United Kingdom. A partial explanation is that the Scotch arrest about all their criminals. The rest of the explanation is probably to be found in Scotch whisky.

Literary circles are excited over the fact that, although the wedding of Miss Mary E. Wilkins was scheduled to take place months ago, it has not yet occurred. Well, what of it? Hasn't a novelist as much right as any other lady to exercise a woman's privilege of changing her mind?

The unloaded revolver and the swimming pool continue to reduce the juvenile population day by day.

OHIO POLITICS

The expected rising of the free-silver forces of Ohio, as a protest against the further foisting of what is known as the Cleveland brand of Democracy upon the plain people, had its inception with John J. Lentz. It will be recalled that Lentz wrote the amendment to the preamble to the resolutions adopted by the convention, declaring in favor of the indorsement of the Kansas City platform. The amendment to the report was presented by W. L. Finley, of Kenton, editor of the Kenton News,
one of the stoutest Lentz advertisers, who has boomed him in his paper for everything from president down todog catcher. Lentz prepared the minority report. The expected happened. The Finley resolution was knocked out and the spectacle was then presented of John R. McLean, as the supreme boss of the Ohio Democracy, being in a position of hostility to Bryan and the Kansas City platform. This will place McLean in a position where he will be fought by every Bryanite in Ohio in his senatorial ambition. There was considerable method in the Finley minority report, its object, engineered by Lentz, being to create a split in the Democratic party, and to have Bryan to come out in opposition to McLean.
—Ohio State Journal.

Colonel A. W. Taylor will be at the head of the literary bureau in the new Democratic state committee organization. The colonel will be able to figure out a glorious Democratic victory, no matter how discouraging the election returns may be. Such a thing as results is not allowed to clip the wings of his elegant fancy.

Senator Foraker has telephoned friends at Columbus that he will take his family to the Adirondacks this week, and will remain there until the campaign opens in September.

This is Colonel Kilbourne's gold

POTTERIES.

Local union No. 48, warehousemen, held a very interesting meeting Wednesday evening. They took in one new member and received four new applications. After the reports of the delegates to the convention were heard the installation of officers was held. They are as follows: President, Joseph Cordingley; vice president, Hugh Hamill; recording secretary, Chal Baxter; financial secretary, Herbert Smith; assistant financial secretary, Louis Faulk; treasurer, T. O.
Terrance; stewards, Herbert Smith and Walter Williams; statistician, A.
Biggins; inspector, O. Bennett. A special meeting of the local has been called for next Wednesday evening.

Walter DeVille, employed as boss of the decorating shop at D. E. Mc-Nicol's, will resign his position Saturday. He has accepted one as superintendent of the decorating departments of the East Liverpool Potteries company and will enter upon his new duties Monday. His place at McNicol's will be taken by Robert Slack, formerly of the Murphy plant.

The work of enlarging the sample room at the D. E. McNicol pottery has been completed. The room now has an additional space of 12 feet and it presents a very handsome appearance.

Cliff Lowary has resigned his position at Sebring and returned to this city. He has accepted a sticking-up job at the Severs.

Thomas Hill has resigned his position at Wallace & Chetwynd's and has accepted one making oatmeals at the Severs.

Ed O'Neal has resigned his position as jiggerman at the Brunt pottery and has accepted a similar one at D. E.
McNicol's.

S. Scaratt has resigned his position as jiggerman at Wallace & Chetwynd's and accepted a similar one at the Severs.

Miss Martha Quinn has accepted a position as finisher at the Taylor, Lee & Smith pottery.

Miss Margaret Dawson has accepted a position in the decorating shop of the D. E. McNicol pottery.

The circus fever struck the potter-ies with full force and many ran shorthanded or not at all.

William Hutchinson has accepted a position as presser at Brunt's.

Dallas Stutler has accepted a position sticking-up at McNicol's.

The following pottery notes have been received from Sebring:

Miss Georgie Buzard has accepted work in the glost wareroom of the Sebring pottery.

John Alman, printer at the Oliver China, goes to the French-China to work next Monday.

L. B. Reeder, of Kensington, is an addition to the office force of the Oliver China company.

George Wilson, of Indiana, expects to take his place with the Oliver Oliver printers this week.

Miss Rosa Muhlemann and Miss Rosa Amstutz, both of Alliance, have taken places as fillers-in at the Oliver China company.

Miss Hattie and Ella Andrews, of Carrollton, and Miss Bertha Horning, of Alliance, are new fillers-in at the Sebring pottery.

James Ward, formerly an employee of the French China pottery, at East Liverpool, has arrived at Sebring, where he has accepted a position as presser with his old employer.

An additional jigger has been placed in the Oliver China, and more room has been given two other jig-gers. The improvement is appreciated by the workmen.

William Hollingshead, the French China glost setter-out, is filling the place of Millard Cochran at the Oliver China company, while Mr. Cochran is taking a much needed rest.

Robert Jewell, dipper for the French China company, is taking the place of Ed Flentke this week at the Oliver China company, while Mr.
Flentke is finishing up his vacation.

Miss Alice Brandon, forelady of the decorating department of the Oliver China company, has returned to her work after a pleasant vacation with relatives and friends at East Liverpool.

Local POTTERIES.

Local union No. 48, warehousemen, held a very interesting meeting Wednesday evening. They took in one new member and received four new applications. After the reports of the delegates to the convention were heard the installation of officers was held. They are as follows: President, Joseph Cordingley; vice president, Hugh Hamill; recording secretary, Chal Baxter; financial secretary, Herbert Smith; assistant financial secretary, Louis Faulk; treasurer, T. O. Terrance; stewards, Herbert Smith and Walter Williams; statistician, A. Biggins; inspector, O. Bennett. A special meeting of the local has been called for next Wednesday evening.

Walter DeVille, employed as boss of the decorating shop at D. E. McNicol's, will resign his position Saturday. He has accepted one as superintendent of the decorating departments of the East Liverpool Pottery company and will enter upon his new duties Monday. His place at McNicol's will be taken by Robert Slack, formerly of the Murphy plant.

The work of enlarging the sample room at the D. E. McNicol pottery has been completed. The room now has an additional space of 12 feet and it presents a very handsome appearance.

Cliff Lowary has resigned his position at Sebring and returned to this city. He has accepted a sticking-up job at the Severs.

Thomas Hill has resigned his position at Wallace & Chetwynd's and has accepted one making oatmeal at the Severs.

Ed O'Neal has resigned his position as jiggerman at the Brunt pottery and has accepted a similar one at D. E. McNicol's.

S. Scaratt has resigned his position as jiggerman at Wallace & Chetwynd's and accepted a similar one at the Severs.

Miss Martha Quinn has accepted a position as finisher at the Taylor, Lee & Smith pottery.

Miss Margaret Dawson has accepted a position in the decorating shop of the D. E. McNicol pottery.

The circus fever struck the potteries with full force and many ran short-handed or not at all.

William Hutchinson has accepted a position as presser at Brunt's.

Dallas Stutler has accepted a position sticking-up at McNicol's.

The following pottery notes have been received from Sebring:

Miss Georgie Buzard has accepted work in the glost wareroom of the Sebring pottery.

John Alman, printer at the Oliver China, goes to the French China to work next Monday.

L. B. Reeder, of Kensington, is an addition to the office force of the Oliver China company.

George Wilson, of Indiana, expects to take his place with the Oliver China printers this week.

Miss Rosa Muhlemann and Miss Rosa Amstutz, both of Alliance, have taken places as fillers-in at the Oliver China company.

Miss Hattie and Ella Andrews, of Carrollton, and Miss Bertha Horning, of Alliance, are new fillers-in at the Sebring pottery.

James Ward, formerly an employee of the French China pottery, at East Liverpool, has arrived at Sebring, where he has accepted a position as presser with his old employer.

An additional jigger has been placed in the Oliver China, and more room has been given two other jiggers. The improvement is appreciated by the workmen.

William Hollingshead, the French China glost setter-out, is filling the place of Millard Cochran at the Oliver China company, while Mr. Cochran is taking a much needed rest.

Robert Jewell, dipper for the French China company, is taking the place of Ed Flentke this week at the Oliver China company, while Mr. Flentke is finishing up his vacation.

Miss Alice Brandon, forelady of the decorating department of the Oliver China company, has returned to her work after a pleasant vacation with relatives and friends at East Liverpool.

Ten Years' Trial

The Story of a Soldier's Struggle

By Brigadier General
Charles King

Copyright, 1901, by Charles King

That episode led to split number two in the mess. Channing's words were held by Nathan's few followers as "a slur on the artillery," and he was asked to withdraw them. He wouldn't. He said they applied only to Nathan's immediate circle, which included, to the best of his belief, only three or possibly four officers of artillery. The mess divided against itself, and this was the condition of affairs when the Chicago papers came telling of the tremendous events at Sheridan. It so happened that Mrs. Torrance was giving a reception that afternoon, that Mrs. Melville had "regretted" some days previous, but that Miss Ethel Grahame, the very attractive young woman referred to as "devoted to riding" in an earlier chapter, had been induced, much against her will, to go in place of her aunt. There were many "points" to this girl, as the most blasé man in the batteries,

"Good night to you—both."

Mr. Santley, had twice remarked, but later he had given it as his opinion that for a girl who hadn't a penny she was too—superior, you know. Santley had been twice abroad, had a little money and about as little sense, had cast his lot with the Nathan contingent as more congenial and productive of dinners. Yet he had spent more evenings at Melville's than anywhere else in the garrison. Melville, always courteous to him, but never communicative, could not have been the attraction, especially as the major had a way of withdrawing to his study with certain of his officers on several evenings in the week and working out problems in the war game. Santley was no student. He hated books, but he loved a pretty face, and that Ethel Grahame's was pretty beyond peradventure not more than five women at Pawnee could be brought to deny even in sacred and secret confidences. Mrs. Melville was not Santley's attraction, for she spent the early evening hours with her children as a rule and considered Santley a milkop and snob. Snob he was, as defined by Thackeray, but milkop—that was still "not proved." Santley was a dawdler in the parlor, but no dolt upon parade. He rode, shot, sparred and danced well, and what he might do in the event of active service was yet to be determined. Now, Langdon had been Miss Grahame's escort on three occasions in saddle before his arrest and court martial, and then sharp weather set in. Miss Grahame, who had been "devoted to riding" in the early fall, seemed to lose her fondness for it when the November winds blew cold over the bald bluffs along the Pawnee. It was Miss Grahame on whom the duty of entertaining Mr. Santley generally devolved, and it was the conviction in Melville's household that no better arrangement was desired by that gentleman. What the major and his wife only conjectured was that for Miss Grahame the arrangement was less charming, but she made no remonstrance. There was very much in Mr. Santley she did not fancy at all, but she would have been less than woman had she not seen that her half formed aversion was anything but reciprocated. Few women worth the winning are destitute of coquetry, however diluted, and Ethel Grahame had found pleasure and interest in spite of herself in Mr. Santley's visits, for she delighted in puzzling, perplexing, even in tormenting him. She had gone to two dances with him, to one with Woodrow or May and then refused to go with him to a third. He asked why. "Because you ask so far ahead," was her placid reply.

"I thought the rule was 'first come first served,'" he said in sulky surprise.

"I know you did, and if that rule were universal no woman could be afforded a choice. She might be compelled to go through an entire season with the least desirable man in society. Now, I like variety."

"You went riding three times hand running with Mr. Langdon," complained the youth. "Did you refuse him the fourth?"

"The fourth never came, but if it had I should have gone. There is great difference between an exhilarating outdoor ride and an indoor party. Besides—Mr. Langdon could teach so much."

"Which I can't do, I suppose you mean," said he disconsolately. Then with an upward glance, "Is he going to teach riding for a living, do you suppose?"

The words were hardly spoken when he regretted them. Miss Grahame flushed hotly, and the light in her eyes boded ill for Santley.

They were walking along the broad gravel path toward the commanding officer's gate at the moment. The Torrances' gate was just ahead. Three or four women, joyously chatting and laughing, were entering. They nodded, with smiling significance, toward the approaching pair, thereby augmenting Miss Grahame's annoyance.

"Say I'm forgiven, Miss Grahame," pleaded Santley hurriedly, "and that you will go with me to the Thanksgiving hop. I've got to go to stables now, you know. There won't be any men at the Torrances' till after retreat. Indeed—I'm—I'm awfully sorry I vexed you," and, to do Santley justice, he looked it.

She turned and faced him. "Mr. Santley," she said, "I knew very few officers till our coming here. It is the first garrison I ever visited. My uncle and two of his old comrades formed my ideas of what our soldiers were and should be, and Mr. Langdon seemed to be of the same caliber, as you artillerymen say. I never heard them sneer at a man in such misfortune as had fallen to him. Your having vexed me is a small matter. My ideals of the army have been decidedly shaken, not by one, but by several of your associates. I thought officers were above such pettiness."

And now it was Santley's turn to redden. "If you stop to consider how Mr. Langdon's misfortune—misfortunes—reflect on the regiment, Miss Grahame, you may understand why we feel it so deeply, and, feeling it, it is no wonder we occasionally speak. If it's anything you care about, of course I'm hoping he won't have to teach riding—or anything else."

"Good afternoon, Mr. Santley," said she, for they had reached the open gate, and she desired no further words.

"But about the hop, Miss Grahame?"

"I shall take it under advisement until tomorrow," was the mischievous and provoking answer, "with all the chances against acceptance. I doubt now if I go at all."

But when Major Melville returned from stables he found his wife in deep concern. It was dark enough at that time to call for lights in many of the quarters, and the windows at the Torrances' were brilliant. Some of the women folk had already sauntered home; others were still abroad, chatting in eager, subdued tones. Mrs. Melville met the major at the door and drew him into the parlor.

"What is this news about Mr. Langdon?" she asked as soon as she had him safely cornered.

"That he is at Sheridan and has been ill. I gather," was Melville's calm reply.

"Now, I ask because Ethel came back all aflame with indignation and has gone to her room to bathe her eyes. Mrs. Nathan said publicly that Mr. Langdon had been picked up by the police drunk in the gutter of a crowded street and that the soldiers clubbed together, paid his fine and took him out to Fort Sheridan."

"I have a letter from Nelson giving me full particulars," said Melville in the same unflinching manner as he gently drew his wife to a seat by his side. "There is no truth in the story of drunkenness or police. You remember Ryan, who used to be in my battery? 'Twas he who found Langdon fainting, and they took him to Sheridan as a matter of course."

"But Mrs. Nathan says Colonel Sharpe was furious at his being brought there and has ordered him put off the post as soon as he can be moved, and the papers are full of stories about a duel. She says Dr. Armistead declared he would publicly insult and horsewhip Mr. Langdon if he showed his face in the garrison."

The major smiled. "Never mind what Mrs. Nathan or the newspapers say, dear," he answered in the same gentle, reassuring tone. "Nelson tells me that there is some old trouble between this young doctor and Langdon, but that they have not met and are not likely to meet. Channing hopes to secure an opening for Langdon as soon as he is able to work."

"Oh, yes, and that reminds me, Mrs. Nathan said Mr. Langdon had the impudence to go to her uncle, who is vice president or something in the Chicago and Seattle railway, and demand employment, saying he was an officer in her husband's battery here, and Mr. whatever his name is—you remember him; he was here—just told him they had no use for such a character. Now, do you suppose that can be true?" And Mrs. Melville looked up at her stalwart husband as though the wisdom of the universe were centered in him.

Ten Years' Trial

The Story of a Soldier's Struggle

By Brigadier General
Charles King

That episode led to split number two in the mess. Channing's words were held by Nathan's few followers as "a slur on the artillery," and he was asked to withdraw them. He wouldn't. He said they applied only to Nathan's immediate circle, which included, to the best of his belief, only three or possibly four officers of artillery. The mess divided against itself, and this was the condition of affairs when the Chicago papers came telling of the tremendous events at Sheridan. It so happened that Mrs. Torrance was giving a reception that afternoon, that Mrs. Melville had "regretted" some days previous, but that Miss Ethel Grahame, the very attractive young woman referred to as "devoted to riding" in an earlier chapter, had been induced, much against her will, to go in place of her aunt. There were many "points" to this girl, as the most blasé man in the batteries,

Mr. Santley had twice remarked, but later he had given it as his opinion that for a girl who hadn't a penny she was too—superior, you know. Santley had been twice abroad, had a little money and about as little sense, had cast his lot with the Nathan contingent as more congenial and productive of dinners. Yet he had spent more evenings at Melville's than anywhere else in the garrison. Melville, always courteous to him, but never communicative, could not have been the attraction, especially as the major had a way of withdrawing to his study with certain of his officers on several evenings in the week and working out problems in the war game. Santley was no student. He hated books, but he loved a pretty face, and that Ethel Grahame's was pretty beyond peradventure not more than five women at Pawnee could be brought to deny even in sacred and secret confidences. Mrs. Melville was not Santley's attraction, for she spent the early evening hours with her children as a rule and considered Santley a milkop and snob. He was, as defined by Thackeray, but milkop—that was still "not proved." Santley was a dawdler in the parlor, but no dolt upon parade. He rode, shot, sparred and danced well, and what he might do in the event of active service was yet to be determined. Now, Langdon had been Miss Grahame's escort on three occasions in saddle before his arrest and court martial, and then sharp weather set in. Miss Grahame, who had been "devoted to riding" in the early fall, seemed to lose her fondness for it when the November winds blew cold over the bald bluffs along the Pawnee. It was Miss Grahame on whom the duty of entertaining Mr. Santley generally devolved, and it was the conviction in Melville's household that no better arrangement was desired by that gentleman. What the major and his wife only conjectured was that for Miss Grahame the arrangement was less charming, but she made no remonstrance. There was very much in Mr. Santley she did not fancy at all, but she would have been less than woman had she not seen that her half formed aversion was anything but reciprocated. Few women worth the winning are destitute of coquetry, however diluted, and Ethel Grahame had found pleasure and interest in spite of herself in Mr. Santley's visits, for she delighted in puzzling, perplexing, even in tormenting him. She had gone to two dances with him, to one with Woodrow or May and then refused to go with him to a third. He asked why. "Because you ask so far ahead," was her placid reply.

"I thought the rule was 'first come first served,'" he said in sulky surprise. "I know you did, and if that rule were universal no woman could be afforded a choice. She might be compelled to go through an entire season with the least desirable man in society. Now, I like variety." "You went riding three times hand running with Mr. Langdon," complained the youth. "Did you refuse him the fourth?" "The fourth never came, but if it had I should have gone. There is great difference between an exhilarating outdoor ride and an indoor party. Besides—Mr. Langdon could teach so much." "Which I can't do, I suppose you mean," said he disconsolately. Then

The words were hardly spoken when he regretted them. Miss Grahame flushed hotly, and the light in her eyes boded ill for Santley.

They were walking along the broad gravel path toward the commanding officer's at the moment. The Torrances' gate was just ahead. Three or four women, joyously chatting and laughing, were entering. They nodded, with smiling significance, toward the approaching pair, thereby augmenting Miss Grahame's annoyance.

"Say I'm forgiven, Miss Grahame," pleaded Santley hurriedly, "and that you will go with me to the Thanksgiving hop. I've got to go to stables now, you know. There won't be any men at the Torrances' till after retreat. Indeed—I'm—I'm awfully sorry I vexed you," and, to do Santley justice, he looked it.

She turned and faced him. "Mr. Santley," she said, "I knew very few officers till our coming here. It is the first garrison I ever visited. My uncle and two of his old comrades formed my ideas of what our soldiers were and should be, and Mr. Langdon seemed to be of the same caliber, as you artillerymen say. I never heard them sneer at a man in such misfortune as had fallen to him. Your having vexed me is a small matter. My ideals of the army have been decidedly shaken, not by one, but by several of your associates. I thought officers were above such pettiness."

And now it was Santley's turn to reddens. "If you stop to consider how Mr. Langdon's miscom—misfortunes—reflect on the regiment, Miss Grahame, you may understand why we feel it so deeply, and, feeling it, it is no wonder we occasionally speak. If it's anything you—care about, of course I'm hoping he won't have to teach riding—or anything else."

"Good afternoon, Mr. Santley," said she, for they had reached the open gate, and she desired no further words. "But about the hop, Miss Grahame?"

But when Major Melville returned from stables he found his wife in deep concern. It was dark enough at that time to call for lights in many of the quarters, and the windows at the Torrances' were brilliant. Some of the women folk had already sauntered home; others were still abroad, chatting in eager, subdued tones. Mrs. Melville met the major at the door and drew him into the parlor.

"What is this news about Mr. Langdon?" she asked as soon as she had him safely cornered.

"That he is at Sheridan and has been ill, I gather," was Melville's calm reply.

"Now, I ask because Ethel came back all aflame with indignation and has gone to her room to bathe her eyes. Mrs. Nathan said publicly that Mr. Langdon had been picked up by the police drunk in the gutter of a crowded street and that the soldiers clubbed together, paid his fine and took him out to Fort Sheridan."

"I have a letter from Nelson giving me full particulars," said Melville in the same untroubled manner as he gently drew his wife to a seat by his side. "There is no truth in the story of drunkenness or police. You remember Ryan, who used to be in my battery? 'Twas he who found Langdon fainting, and they took him to Sheridan as a matter of course."

"But Mrs. Nathan says Colonel Sharpe was furious at his being brought there and has ordered him put off the post as soon as he can be moved, and the papers are full of stories about a duel. She says Dr. Armistead declared he would publicly insult and horsewhip Mr. Langdon if he showed his face in the garrison."

The major smiled. "Never mind what Mrs. Nathan or the newspapers say, dear," he answered in the same gentle, reassuring tone. "Nelson tells me that there is some old trouble between this young doctor and Langdon, but that they have not met and are not likely to meet. Channing hopes to secure an opening for Langdon as soon as he is able to work."

"Oh, yes, and that reminds me, Mrs. Nathan said Mr. Langdon had the impudence to go to her uncle, who is vice president or something in the Chicago and Seattle railway, and demand employment, saying he was an officer in her husband's battery here, and Mr. whatever his name is—you remember him; he was here—just told him they had no use for such a character. Now, do you suppose that can be true?" And Mrs. Melville looked up at her stalwart husband as though the wisdom of the universe were centered in him.

THE DROUTH BROKEN

Welcome Rain Drenched Grateful Homeseekers, at El Reno, O. T.

PRAYERS FOR RELIEF ANSWERED

By the Falling of Rains in Southwestern Missouri, Central and Southern Kansas and Central Part of Indian and Oklahoma Country.

Kansas City, July 19.—Further good rains following those of Wednesday fell after midnight Wednesday night and during Thursday in many points in the southwest. The area covered was principally in Southwestern Missouri, Central and Southern Kansas and in the central part of the Indian and Oklahoma country. The heaviest fall was in Sedgewick county, in which Wichita is situated, and where nearly two inches and a half of water fell. The rains have increased the prospects of half a crop of corn and will help pasturage. However, but little rain is reported in Northern and Western Kansas, and some points are still suffering a drouth that extends back from about four to about eight weeks. The rain in the territory began Wednesday afternoon, covering a large area in the vicinity of El Reno, O. T., and brought to an end the drouth of more than a month. El Reno is crowded with thousands of homeseekers, registering for the Kiwa-Comanche opening, and the rain Thursday, coming upon them suddenly, caught many at the registration booths unawares, wetting their papers and overturning a number of their canvas shelters. The people were too grateful to complain and instead rejoiced at the downpour.

FIRM FAITH IN GOD.

STEYN SHOWS A RELIGION WELL WORTH EMULATING.

Kitchener Makes Public a Correspondence Between Steyn and Reitz That Was Captured.

London, July 19.—The war office issued late last night a dispatch from Lord Kitchener, giving the correspondence between Mr. Reitz and Mr. Steyn that was captured with the latter's baggage near Lindley, July 11. Mr. Reitz, under date of May 10, wrote Mr. Steyn that a meeting of the

MARTINUS TH. STEYN.

Transvaal government had been held, attended by General Botha, General Viljoen and Mr. Smuts, to consider the national situation. He went on to catalogue the difficulties—the numerous surrenders of Burghers, entailing a heavy responsibility on the government, the rapidly decreasing supply of ammunition, the disintegration of the government and the lack of any definite assurances of European intervention.

"In view of these facts," he said, "the government has decided to address a message to President Kruger pointing out the terrible conditions. The time has passed for us to let matters drift as at present. We must take a final step."

Mr. Steyn, replying, May 15, upbraided Mr. Reitz with weak heartedness, saying:

"There is still sufficient ammunition to continue the struggle. You ask what prospect there is of a successful termination. I ask what chance there was for two small republics when they declared war against the mighty power of Great Britain. You will answer that we trusted in God and in foreign intervention. What reason is there now to place less trust in God?"

"I have seen recent European newspapers, and I firmly believe that complications will occur in Europe in the course of a few months which will secure our good fortune."

Mr. Steyn also says the fact that Mr. Kruger and the Boer delegates remain in Europe convinces him that they consider the case not beyond hope. He adds that he has summoned General De Wet and urges Mr. Reitz to take no steps until he has heard further from him.

Suggestion That Dewey Command.
Washington, July 19.—The suggestion was made by a rear admiral in high standing that Admiral Dewey should be given command of a large squadron, comprising the best principles of our new ships, to be present at the coronation of King Edward VII. The navy department has not thus far taken up the question of naval representation at this event, but the suggestion concerning Admiral Dewey and a large squadron of fine ships meets with general approval among high naval officials.

BIDDLES SENTENCED TO DIE.

Dorman Guilty In First Degree—Jennie Seebers and Jessie Bodyne leased on Own Recognizance.

Pittsburg, July 19.—John and Edward Biddle were sentenced to death in criminal court. The brothers were convicted of the murder of Thomas D. Kahney, the Mt. Washington grocer. Before they were sentenced the court refused to grant a new trial in each case. Walter Dorman, who pleaded guilty of the same crime, was adjudged guilty of murder in the first degree by the court.

Before the decision on the application for a new trial was announced, it was said by James Francis Burke, attorney for John Biddle, that in case sufficient funds were forthcoming an appeal would be carried to the supreme court. It is currently believed that this will be done, as friends of the convicted men have offered to aid in the matter. Attorney John D. Watson, who represented Edward Biddle, also intimated that such a move was probable.

Attorney William A. Blakeley presented his petition in favor of Jessie Bodyne and Jennie Seebers, who were then brought into court. He asked that the girls be released, inasmuch as they had been ready and willing to stand trial at all times and there was no evidence against them.

District Attorney John C. Haymaker said that he had no objection to releasing them, and after a consultation, Judges Shafer and Frazer authorized the release of the two girls by a formal order. They were released on their own recognizance.

REBELLION RENEWED.

IN BOTHOL AND SENTIMENT
STRONG IN BATANGAS.

Three Provinces and Island Cebu Returned to American Military Control.

Manila, July 19.—The United States civil commission announced that after about three months' trial of provincial form of government in the islands of Cebu and Bohol and the province of Batangas, Luzon, control of those districts, owing to their incomplete pacification, has been returned to the military authorities, it having been proved that the communities indicated are backward and undeserving of civil administration.

The provincial and civil officials of these designated districts continue their functions, but are now under the authority of General Chaffee, instead of that of civil government. Taft, as herebefore, General Chaffee has the power arbitrarily to remove from office any or all provincial or civil officials and to abrogate any section of the laws promulgated in these three provinces.

The residents of the island of Cebu have protested, but without success, against the return of that island to military control. Several towns in Cebu are still besieged by the insurgents. The insurrection on the island of Bohol has been renewed and insurgent sentiment in the province of Batangas is strong.

General Chaffee has ordered a battalion of the Thirtieth infantry to begin the occupation of the island of Mindoro. The province of Batangas will be occupied by the entire Twentieth infantry.

Constabulary Act Passed.

Manila, July 19.—An act has been passed organizing the insular constabulary practically as outlined in dispatches to the Associated Press last March. A provision has been added empowering the chief of the system and either of the four district assistants to temporarily consolidate constabularies of two or more provinces, in cases of necessity. Inspection and discipline of the municipal police will also be controlled by the constabulary department.

Admiral Heyden Dead.

NOTES FROM MANILA.

Life of the Igorrotes, Governor Whitmarsh's Constituents.

INDEPENDENT AND PEACEFUL.

These Peculiar People Are Apt Pupils In Civil Government—Care of Civilian Employees—Filipino Complaints of Discrimination In Government Employ.

Phelps Whitmarsh, governor of Benguet province, who is in the city on official business, talks interestingly of the Igorrotes under his jurisdiction, writes the Manila correspondent of the New York Post under the date of May 28. These peculiar people were the first in the Philippines to ask for a civil government, and Mr. Whitmarsh was the first provincial governor appointed. Government in his province differs materially from that elsewhere in the archipelago, necessarily so because of the character of the inhabitants. As explained by Mr. Whitmarsh, the Igorrotes are in a position somewhat similar to that of the North American Indians, under an agent, but with a large measure of freedom in matters of local government. While the governor fixes the laws of the province, each municipality elects its officers and makes its laws, excepting those relating to taxation, and this last rests lightly, being only one-half of 1 per cent on property, or 50 cents (gold) yearly for those not possessing property.

"An Igorrote town is the most independent institution in the islands," Governor Whitmarsh says. "It uses every cent of its taxes for its own benefit, nothing going into the provincial government. All that the governor can do is to approve or suggest amendments to laws, so that the Igorrotes are enjoying a good opportunity to practically learn how to govern themselves. I was astonished at the amount of aptitude and intelligence the natives displayed in framing their laws. I have allowed them to follow pretty much their own ideas and often have approved minor legislation which I knew would be unsatisfactory in order that they might learn its ineffectuality and improve themselves in self government."

Individually the Igorrote is self dependent. "He can supply his needs and those of his family with little effort. Money is no inducement to him. He doesn't want to work, doesn't want to change his dress and doesn't want to become a Christian. In fact, he has no need of the aid of the outside world. The question is how can we induce him to accept civilization. The Igorrote would be happier and better off without civilization, but this is necessary for his preservation, or the Juggernaut of the world will crush him out of existence."

These Igorrotes are antagonistic to the Tagalogs and also to Christians. They are thorough pagans, but are moral and honest, although they will lie. Childish in many respects, they can fight on occasion, and Governor Whitmarsh tells of a force of 75 of them which he organized and which, armed with bolos and six guns, scouted through the territory of the predatory and head hunting Busuls, north-east of the province, broke up their gangs and captured their leaders. They do not fight the Americans, however, and 34 soldiers easily keep order in the province.

The quartermaster's department is to build about 50 houses for the use of the civil employees of the government. They will be built on the exposition grounds, and the barracks there, soon to be vacated by the soldiers, will be converted into dwellings. The object is to relieve the employees of the excessive cost of living, which is higher here than in the United States. Accommodation at the inferior hotels costs $35 (gold) per month, but in the houses to be built by the government it is thought that satisfactory quarters and board can be furnished for $30 a month. Each house will probably accommodate five or six persons. They will be built of Filipino woods and adapted to the climate. The barracks will be divided into apartments suited to families, bachelors and mess halls. It is intended also to establish stores similar to army commissary stores for the benefit of civilian employees, where goods can be bought at about 10 per cent above their cost to the government.

The papers here printed in English are protesting against the continuance for some years of Spanish as the official language of the courts. They assert that comparatively few of the people, especially outside of Manila, speak Spanish and that the requirement of English as the official language would work no special hardship. They appear to overlook the fact, however, that the laws are all in Spanish.

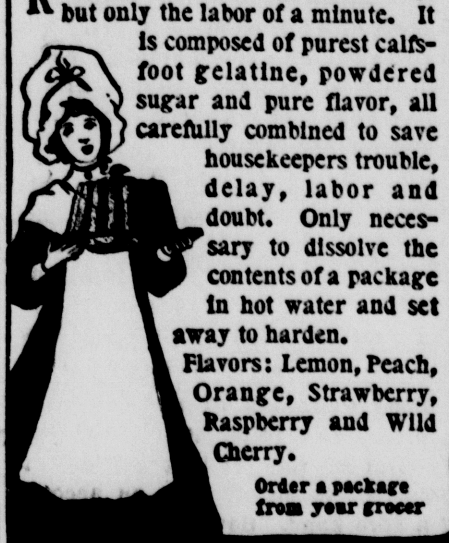

This language question is in another way the cause of much discontent among the Filipinos who aspire to positions, clerical and otherwise, under the American administration. They assert that even when they pass the civil service examination and are appointed they receive less compensation than Americans in the same grade. This is true, and the explanation offered is the unfamiliarity of the natives with the English language and American methods. Whether equal opportunity will be allowed them when they have learned American ways and English remains to be seen.

THE DROUTH BROKEN

Welcome Rain Drenched Grateful Homeseekers, at

El Reno, O. T.

PRAYERS FOR RELIEF ANSWERED

By the falling of rains in Southwestern Missouri, Central and Southern Kansas and Central Part
of Indian and Oklahoma Country.

Kansas City, July 19.—Further good rains following those of Wednesday fell after midnight Wednesday night and during Thursday in many points in the southwest. The area covered was principally in Southwestern Missouri, Central and Southern Kansas and in the central part of the Indian and Oklahoma country. The heaviest fall was in Sedgewick county, in which Wichita is situated, and where nearly two inches and a half of water fell.
The rains have increased the prospects of half a crop of corn and will help pasturage. However, but little rain is reported in Northern and Western Kansas, and some points are still suffering a drouth that extends back from about four to about eight weeks. The rain in the territory began Wednesday afternoon, covering a large area in the vicinity of El Reno, O. T., and brought to an end the drouth of more than a month.
El Reno is crowded with thousands of homeseekers, registering for the Kiwa-Comanche opening, and the rain Thursday, coming upon them suddenly, caught many at the registration booths unawares, wetting their papers and overturning a number of their canvas shelters. The people were too grateful to complain and instead rejoiced at the downpour.

The average temperature in the southwest Thursday was considerably lower than that for the past two weeks. At Kansas City the highest reached was 97.

FIRM FAITH IN GOD.

STEYN SHOWS A RELIGION WELL WORTH EMULATING.

Kitchener Makes Public a Correspondence Between Steyn and Reitz
That Was Captured.

London, July 19.—The war office issued late last night a dispatch from Lord Kitchener, giving the correspondence between Mr. Reitz and Mr.
Steyn that was captured with the latter's baggage near Lindley, July 11.
Mr. Reitz, under date of May 10, wrote Mr. Steyn that a meeting of the

MARTINUS TH. STEYN.

Transvaal government had been held, attended by General Botha, General Viljoen and Mr. Smuts, to consider the national situation. He went on to catalogue the difficulties—the numerous surrenders of Burghers, entailing a heavy responsibility on the government, the rapidly decreasing supply of ammunition, the disintegration of the government and the lack of any definite assurances of European intervention.

"In view of these facts," he said,
"the government has decided to address a message to President Kruger pointing out the terrible conditions.
The time has passed for us to let matters drift as at present. We must take a final step."

Mr. Steyn, replying, May 15, upbraided Mr. Reitz with weak heartedness, saying:

"There is still sufficient ammunition to continue the struggle. You ask what prospect there is of a successful termination. I ask what chance there was for two small republics when they declared war against the mighty power of Great Britain. You will answer that we trusted in God and in foreign intervention. What reason is there now to place less trust in God?"

"I have seen recent European newspapers, and I firmly believe that complications will occur in Europe in the course of a few months which will secure our good fortune."

Mr. Steyn also says the fact that Mr. Kruger and the Boer delegates remain in Europe convinces him that they consider the case not beyond hope. He adds that he has summoned General De Wet and urges Mr. Reitz to take no steps until he has heard further from him.

Suggestion That Dewey Command.
Washington, July 19.—The suggestion was made by a rear admiral in high standing that Admiral Dewey should be given command of a large squadron, comprising the best principles of our new ships, to be present at the coronation of King Edward VII.
The navy department has not thus far taken up the question of naval representation at this event, but the suggestion concerning Admiral Dewey and a large squadron of fine ships meets with general approval among high naval officials.

BIDDLES SENTENCED TO DIE.

Dorman Guilty in First Degree—Jennie Seebers and Jessie Bodyne leased on Own Recognizance.

Pittsburg, July 19.—John and Edward Biddle were sentenced to death in criminal court. The brothers were convicted of the murder of Thomas D.
Kahney, the Mt. Washington grocer.
Before they were sentenced the court refused to grant a new trial in each case. Walter Dorman, who pleaded guilty of the same crime, was adjudged guilty of murder in the first degree by the court.

Before the decision on the application for a new trial was announced, it was said by James Francis Burke, attorney for John Biddle, that in case sufficient funds were forthcoming an appeal would be carried to the supreme court. It is currently believed that this will be done, as friends of the convicted men have offered to aid in the matter. Attorney John D. Watson, who represented Edward Biddle, also intimated that such a move was probable.

Attorney William A. Blakeley presented his petition in favor of Jessie Bodyne and Jennie Seebers, who were then brought into court. He asked that the girls be released, inasmuch as they had been ready and willing to stand trial at all times and there was no evidence against them.

District Attorney John C. Haymaker said that he had no objection to releasing them, and after a consultation, Judges Shafer and Frazer authorized the release of the two girls by a formal order. They were released on their own recognizance.

REBELLION RENEWED.

STRONG IN BATANGAS.

Three Provinces and Island Cebu Returned to American Military Control.

Manila, July 19.—The United States civil commission announced that after about three months' trial of provincial form of government in the islands of Cebu and Bohol and the province of Batangas, Luzon, control of those districts, owing to their incomplete pacification, has been returned to the military authorities, it having been proved that the communities indicated are backward and undeserving of civil administration.

The provincial and civil officials of these designated districts continue their functions, but are now under the authority of General Chaffee, instead of that of civil government. Taft, as heretofore, General Chaffee has the power arbitrarily to remove from office any or all provincial or civil officials and to abrogate any section of the laws promulgated in these three provinces.

The residents of the island of Cebu have protested, but without success, against the return of that island to military control. Several towns in Cebu are still besieged by the insurgents. The insurrection on the island of Bohol has been renewed and insurgent sentiment in the province of Batangas is strong.

General Chaffee has ordered a batalion of the Thirtieth infantry to begin the occupation of the island of Mindoro. The province of Batangas will be occupied by the entire Twentieth infantry.

Constabulary Act Passed.

Manila, July 19.—An act has been passed organizing the insular constabulary practically as outlined in dispatches to the Associated Press last March. A provision has been added empowering the chief of the system and either of the four district assistants to temporarily consolidate constabularies of two or more provinces, in cases of necessity. Inspection and discipline of the municipal police will also be controlled by the constabulary department.

Admiral Heyden Dead.

St. Petersburg, July 19.—Admiral
Count Loguin Heyden died here July 3. He was in his 95th year and had been an officer in the Russian marine nearly 80 years.

NOTES FROM MANILA.

Life of the Igorrotes, Governor
Whitmarsh's Constituents.

INDEPENDENT AND PEACEFUL.

These Peculiar People Are Apt Pupils in Civil Government—Care of Civilian Employees—Filipino Complaints of Discrimination in Government Employ.

Philips Whitmarsh, governor of Benguet province, who is in the city on official business, talks interestingly of the Igorrotes under his jurisdiction, writes the New York Post under the date of May 28. These peculiar people were the first in the Philippines to ask for a civil government, and Mr. Whitmarsh was the first provincial governor appointed. Government in his province differs materially from that elsewhere in the archipelago, necessarily so because of the character of the inhabitants. As explained by Mr. Whitmarsh, the Igorrotes are in a position somewhat similar to that of the North American Indians, under an agent, but with a large measure of freedom in matters of local government. While the governor fixes the laws of the province, each municipality elects its officers and makes its laws, excepting those relating to taxation, and this last rests lightly, being only one-half of 1 per cent on property, or 50 cents (gold) yearly for those not possessing property.

"An Igorrote town is the most independent institution in the islands," Governor Whitmarsh says. "It uses every cent of its taxes for its own benefit, nothing going into the provincial government. All that the governor can do is to approve or suggest amendments to laws, so that the Igorrotes are enjoying a good opportunity to practically learn how to govern themselves.
I was astonished at the amount of aptitude and intelligence the natives displayed in framing their laws. I have allowed them to follow pretty much their own ideas and often have approved minor legislation which I knew would be unsatisfactory in order that they might learn its ineffectuality and improve themselves in self govern-

Individually the Igorrote is self dependent. "He can supply his needs and those of his family with little effort. Money is no inducement to him.
He doesn't want to work, doesn't want to change his dress and doesn't want to become a Christian. In fact, he has no need of the aid of the outside world.
The question is how can we induce him to accept civilization. The Igorrote would be happier and better off without civilization, but this is necessary for his preservation, or the juggernaut of the world will crush him out of existence."

These Igorrotes are antagonistic to the Tagalogs and also to Christians.
They are thorough pagans, but are moral and honest, although they will lie. Childish in many respects, they can fight on occasion, and Governor Whitmarsh tells of a force of 75 of them which he organized and which,
armed with bolos and six guns, scouted through the territory of the predatory and head hunting Busuls, northeast of the province, broke up their gangs and captured their leaders. They do not fight the Americans, however, and 34 soldiers easily keep order in the province.

The quartermaster's department is to build about 50 houses for the use of the civil employees of the government.
They will be built on the exposition grounds, and the barracks there, soon to be vacated by the soldiers, will be converted into dwellings. The object is to relieve the employees of the excessive cost of living, which is higher here than in the United States. Accommodation at the inferior hotels costs $35 (gold) per month, but in the houses to be built by the government it is thought that satisfactory quarters and board can be furnished for $30 a month. Each house will probably accommodate five or six persons. They will be built of Filipino woods and adapted to the climate. The barracks will be divided into apartments suited to families, bachelors and mess halls.
It is intended also to establish stores similar to army commissary stores for the benefit of civilian employees, where goods can be bought at about 10 per cent above their cost to the government.

The papers here printed in English are protesting against the continuance for some years of Spanish as the official language of the courts. They assert that comparatively few of the people, especially outside of Manila, speak Spanish and that the requirement of English as the official language would work no special hardship. They appear to overlook the fact, however, that the laws are all in Spanish.

This language question is in another way the cause of much discontent among the Filipinos who aspire to positions, clerical and otherwise, under the American administration. They assert that even when they pass the civil service examination and are appointed they receive less compensation than Americans in the same grade. This is true, and the explanation offered is the unfamiliarity of the natives with the English language and American methods. Whether equal opportunity will be allowed them when they have learned American ways and English remains to be seen.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature And of Matters About Town.

Seriously Ill—J. W. Allison, Fourth and Monroe street, is seriously ill of typhoid fever.

Her Condition Critical — Mrs. E.
Sherwood, of Huston addition, who has been ill with consumption for several months, is much worse. She is unconscious and no hopes are entertained for her recovery.

Fainted on the Street — An aged country lady, whose name was not learned, fainted on Fifth street near Market this morning. She was carried into a nearby store and a physician sent for. She recovered, however, before the doctor arrived.

Blood Poisoning Feared—Ed Roe, employed as a roller at the outbound platform of the freight station, is compelled to be off duty on account of a sore hand. Several days ago he was engaged in unloading sheet iron from a car and accidentally cut one of the fingers of his right hand. The wound apparently healed, but Wednesday it began to swell. It is thought blood poisoning has set in and Roe may be compelled to have the finger amputated.

The Water Falling.
The water in the Ohio reached a stage of 7 feet yesterday, but it began to recede again this morning. The

PLEASANT EVENT

Miss Mae Bratt, of the West End, Delightfully Entertains
Friends.

Miss Mae Bratt, of Jethro street, delightfully entertained a number of friends at her home last evening.

Dancing was the chief amusement of the evening, although various amusements were provided for those of the guests that did not care to "trip the light fantastic," and the evening was passed in a most enjoyable manner.
Selections of instrumental and vocal music were rendered and at the close of the evening's entertainment the guests were seated at a daintily decorated table spread with delicious, toothsome viands, to which they did ample justice. The affair was one of the most pleasant social events of the West End during the season.

Resigned to Go South.

Lisbon, July 19.—(Special)—Miss Ruth Elliott, of Shreve, a graduate of Wooster university, has been appointed assistant principal of the Lisbon high school. She succeeds Miss Alice Smith, who has filled the position for two years, and has resigned to go to Asheville, N. C., to teach.

To Gauge His Wife's Temper.

"I heard about a peculiar case of hen-pecked husband recently," said a young woman the other day.

"What was it?" her friend inquired.
"There is a man who has some difficulty in gauging his wife's temper. At times she is considerate of his welfare and at other times—well, he rather thinks that married life is a failure.

"He has a peculiar manner of finding out the state of his wife's feeling toward him. In the evening when he returns home from work he never steps into the house without going through a sort of ceremony. First he throws his hat in the house, and then he seats himself on the steps and waits. If five minutes pass without the hat being thrown out again, he enters and generally finds his wife very agreeable. However, if the hat is thrown out again the unfortunate man seeks hospitality for the night somewhere else rather than brave the anger of his helpmeet."—Cleveland Leader.

An Approach to Perpetual Motion.

A clock is to be seen at Brussels which comes about as near being a perpetual motion machine as can be invented, for the sun does the winding.
The following is the method by which it works: A shaft exposed to the solar rays causes an up draft of air, which sets the fan in motion. The fan actuates mechanism which raises the weight of the clock until it reaches the top and then puts a break on the fan till the weight has gone down a little,
when the fan is again liberated and proceeds to act as before. As long as the sun shines frequently enough and the machinery does not wear out the clock will keep in perpetual motion.

In Retreat.

Down from the upper air floated the strains of music, yet Neptune was visibly annoyed.

"What's gnawing at thy vitals, sire?"
asked a mermaid.

"I wish in the name of Orpheus," said the sea king, "that boating parties could sing something else besides 'A Life on the Ocean Wave.'"

And forthwith he crawled into a cave and pulled the cave in after him.

WORLD'S LARGEST GUN.

Government Will Have It Ready For Exhibition in 1903.

The management of the Pan-American exposition will be disappointed in its hope of securing the great 16 inch rifle which is being manufactured for the government and which is intended to become a part of the coast defense armament, says a special dispatch from Washington to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. This big gun has cost the United States about $500,000 thus far, and it is so far from completion that it is not expected that it can be exhibited before another year has passed. It has been suggested in consequence that it would form a most interesting exhibit for the St. Louis exposition in 1903, as it will probably be mounted by that time and ready for transportation.

The castings for the gun are complete, but its breech mechanism has not been finished, nor has the immediate gun carriage on which it is to be mounted. In 1903 the gun will be fully completed, and it is expected then, as now, it will be the largest gun in the world. It will have a range of more than 25 miles, and its destructive ability can hardly be estimated. It is indicated, however, by the fact that the skilled gunners of the United States artillery believe any well directed shot from the great gun would entirely demolish the largest fighting ship of a hostile navy which might attempt to enter a port which it defends.

HE'S A WONDER!

PROF. FRANCIS HUNT,
Of Pittsburg.

.Palmist.
—AND—
.Clarivoyant.

Appreciating the fact that there are many of the best citizens who are only too anxious to consult a good, reliable medium, if they first felt positive that in spending their money they would receive full value in return, therefore Prof Hunt gladly makes the following honest offer: "I hereby solemnly swear and guarantee to give each and every patron full and complete satisfaction, and after I am finished with my reading, and you are satisfied and do not find me superior over other mediums that have visited your city (you be full judge), pay me not one penny.
IS THAT NOT HONEST? COULD ANYTHING BE FAIRER? Prof. Hunt's ancestors were all powerful and reliable mediums, and the old family name of Hunt is as well-known and held as sacred to the believer in the spirit power as the name of Shakespeare is in the realms of literature.
Therefore, this wonderful young man has received the rich and golden inheritance and combined knowledge which has been handed down from father to son for generations. He asks no questions, but answers sealed messages in a trance, and before you can utter a solitary word HE TELLS YOUR NAME IN FULL, names of enemies, friends or rivals; tells whether husband, wife or sweetheart is true or false; tells you how to gain success in love, courtship, marriage, divorce, health, business, law suits, speculation and transactions of all kinds. In fact, no matter what may be your hope, fear or ambition, come to this gifted man and find help. If you are out of work and discouraged, don't blame McKinley or find fault with the universe, the trouble may be right in yourself or your surroundings. Do you find, with all your natural gifts and talents, that you are baffled, discouraged and unsuccessful? If so, come and be advised and find out the cause of your bad luck, and how you can change your bad conditions to those of success, joy and happiness.

HE HAS HELPED OTHERS, WHY NOT YOU?

If you are going to see a clairvoyant
Why not see the best?
Especially when you can do so at a moderate cost. You want a medium who will make good his promise—one who legally guarantees success in everything he undertakes. You want a medium of deep learning, and above all, you want a medium who will deal honest with you. These are the mottos of Prof. Hunt. HE CHANGES YOUR LUCK AND GIVES YOU suc-CESS THAT WINS SURE.

Posing as a Model.

A curious feature of a model's occupation is her posing for an artist who is painting some one else. Wealthy people are capricious and often do not care to give long sittings. Therefore, after the artist has caught the expression of the face, he will call in a model to pose for the figure. Some models do not care to do this, as part of their enjoyment of their occupation consists in seeing themselves reproduced on canvas, but there are others who are quite willing to help fill out.

Various models have various points of excellence, and often a painter will employ at different stages in the progress of his work from three to four
One model is known for her coloring, another for her hands, another for her hair. An artist generally notes in his address book the characteristics of a model after her name. These quotations are taken at random from an artist's address book: "Fine young Jewess," "English, tall and slim, blond, costume," "Good back," "Good figure, short legs, ivory tone."—Cosmopolitan.

The Florodora.

[The latest new summer drink.]
Oh, siren of the summer drinks!
A pale rose in the shattered ice Glow like the cheek of that sweet minx
Who names this drink of paradise.

Of raspberries their sirup soul
From tender fruit most tender nursed,
And fragrant times that reach the goal
And make a blessing of a thirst.

Oh, don't forget the Plymouth gin
That makes of water merry fest, Its pale and weak and soulless twin
That never stirred my lady's breast!

And ice! Oh, cool, refreshing mass!
Oh, grateful music to the ear!
Crushed, shattered, powdered in the glass,
A grateful, frozen poem there.

Then ale of ginger on the top—Instinct with life and knows its bias—
That leaps out with a regal pop
As though it were the real old fias.

Lo, crimson Venus that we hath!
The heartless cherry, sweetly nice,
Fresh from a Maraschino bath
To rest upon a couch of ice.

A slice of orange, a disk of gold,
The crowning glory of the float;
The drink's complete and smoking cold
And ready for the arid throat.

To you, sweet "Florodora" maid,
Who caused this summer blessing's make,
I drink the tippie in the shade
And bless you for it, Susie Drake.

An Approach to Perpetual Motion.

A clock is to be seen at Brussels
which comes about as near being a perpetual motion machine as can be
invented, for the sun does the winding.
The following is the method by which it works: A shaft exposed to the solar
rays causes an up draft of air, which
sets the fan in motion. The fan actuates mechanism which raises the weight of the clock until it reaches the top and then puts a break on the fan
till the weight has gone down a little,
when the fan is again liberated and proceeds to act as before. As long as the sun shines frequently enough and
the machinery does not wear out the clock will keep in perpetual motion.

In Retreat.

Down from the upper air floated the strains of music, yet Neptune was visibly annoyed.

"What's gnawing at thy vitals, sire?"
asked a mermaid.

"I wish in the name of Orpheus,"
said the sea king, "that boating parties could sing something else besides 'A Life on the Ocean Wave.'"

And forthwith he crawled into a cave and pulled the cave in after him.

WORLD'S LARGEST GUN.

Government Will Have It Ready For Exhibition In 1903.

The management of the Pan-American exposition will be disappointed in
its hope of securing the great 16 inch rifle which is being manufactured for
the government and which is intended
to become a part of the coast defense
armament, says a special dispatch from Washington to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. This big gun has cost the United States about $500,000 thus far,
and it is so far from completion that it is not expected that it can be exhibited
before another year has passed. It has been suggested in consequence that it would form a most interesting exhibit
for the St. Louis exposition in 1903, as it will probably be mounted by that time and ready for transportation.

The castings for the gun are complete, but its breech mechanism has not been finished, nor has the immediate
gun carriage on which it is to be mounted. In 1903 the gun will be fully
completed, and it is expected then, as now, it will be the largest gun in the world. It will have a range of more than 25 miles, and its destructive ability can hardly be estimated. It is indicated, however, by the fact that the
skilled gunners of the United States artillery believe any well directed shot
from the great gun would entirely demolish the largest fighting ship of a hostile navy which might attempt to enter a port which it defends.

HE'S A WONDER!

PROF. FRANCIS HUNT,
Of Pittsburg.

.Palmist.

.Clarivoyant.

Appreciating the fact that there are many of the best citizens who are only
too anxious to consult a good, reliable medium, if they first felt positive that
in spending their money they would receive full value in return, therefore Prof Hunt gladly makes the following
honest offer: "I hereby solemnly
swear and guarantee to give each and every patron full and complete satisfaction, and after I am finished with my reading, and you are satisfied and
do not find me superior over other mediums that have visited your city (you be full judge), pay me not one penny.
ANYTHING BE FAIRER? Prof. Hunt's
ancestors were all powerful and reliable mediums, and the old family name of Hunt is as well-known and
held as sacred to the believer in the spirit power as the name of Shakespeare is in the realms of literature.
Therefore, this wonderful young man
has received the rich and golden inheritance and combined knowledge
which has been handed down from father to son for generations. He asks
no questions, but answers sealed messages in a trance, and before you can
utter a solitary word HE TELLS
YOUR NAME IN FULL, names of enemies, friends or rivals; tells whether
husband, wife or sweetheart is true
or false; tells you how to gain success in love, courtship, marriage, divorce, health, business, law suits, speculation and transactions of all kinds. In fact, no matter what may be
your hope, fear or ambition, come to this gifted man and find help. If you are out of work and discouraged, don't blame McKinley or find fault with the
universe, the trouble may be right in yourself or your surroundings. Do you find, with all your natural gifts and
talents, that you are baffled, discouraged and unsuccessful? If so, come and
be advised and find out the cause of
your bad luck, and how you can
success, joy and happiness.

HE HAS HELPED OTHERS,
WHY NOT YOU?
If you are going to see a clairvoyant
WHY NOT SEE THE BEST?
Especially when you can do so at a moderate cost. You want a medium who will make good his promise—one
who legally guarantees success in everything he undertakes. You want a medium of deep learning, and above all, you want a medium who will deal honestly with you. These are the mottoes of Prof. Hunt. HE CHANGES

Posing as a Model.

A curious feature of a model's occupation is her posing for an artist who is painting some one else. Wealthy people are capricious and often do not care to give long sittings. Therefore,
after the artist has caught the expression of the face, he will call in a model
to pose for the figure. Some models
do not care to do this, as part of their
enjoyment of their occupation consists
in seeing themselves reproduced on canvas, but there are others who are
quite willing to help fill out.

Various models have various points
of excellence, and often a painter will
employ at different stages in the pro-
One model is known for her coloring,
another for her hands, another for her hair. An artist generally notes in his address book the characteristics of a model after her name. These quotations are taken at random from an artist's address book: "Fine young Jewess," "English, tall and slim, blond, costume," "Good back," "Good figure,
short legs, ivory tone."—Cosmopolitan.

The Florodora.

[The latest new summer drink.]
Oh, since the summer drinks!
A pale rose in the shattered ice
Glow like the cheek of that sweet minx
Who names this drink of paradise.

Of raspberries their sirup soul
From tender fruit most tender nursed,
And fragrant limes that reach the goal
And make a blessing of a thirst.

Oh, don't forget the Plymouth gin
That makes of water merry jest,
Its pale and weak and soulless twin
That never stirred my lady's breast!

And ice! Oh, cool, refreshing mass!
Oh, grateful music to the ear!
Crushed, shattered, powdered in the glass,
A grateful, frozen poem there.

Then ale of ginger on the top—Instinct with life and knows its biz-That leaps out with a regal poise
As though it were the real old fizz.

Lo, crimson Venus that we haht!
The heartless cherry, sweetly nice,
Fresh from a Maraschino bath
To rest upon a couch of ice.

A slice of orange, a disk of gold,
The crowning glory of the float;
The drink's complete and smoking cold
And ready for the arid throat.

To you, sweet "Florodora" maid,
Who raised this summer blessing's make,
I drink the tippie in the shade
And bless you for it, Susie Drake.

JUDGE FELL'S SUMMING UP OF THE MASON-SMITH CASE

Full Text of the Important Decision Rendered In Philadelphia.

THE WHOLE COURT AGREES

Ohio Valley Gas Company Deal the Point on Which All Turned.

NO PROOF OF AN AGREEMENT

The opinion of Judge Fell, of the Pennsylvania supreme court, in the case of Albert G. Mason versus Chas. A. Smith, has been received in this city. The entire seven judges concurred in the finding. The decision is as follows:

It is averred in the bill filed that in February, 1896, the plaintiff and defendant, being then the owners of a part of the stock of the Ohio Valley Gas company, entered into a parole agreement to purchase the remainder of the stock and to divide equally the profits which should arise from the management of the company, or the sale of its stock; that in pursuance of this agreement they united their credit, efforts and influence, purchased the stock and managed the company until October, 1899, when they sold the same at a profit of $255,000; that with a part of the profits of this sale they purchased a large tract of land in West Virginia, built a pottery, paid the subscriptions on the stock of a corporation which they formed, known as the Taylor, Lee & Smith company, and purchased the stock and property of the Knowles, Taylor & Anderson company, an Ohio corporation engaged in manufacturing sewer pipe, which stock they afterwards sold for $175,000; that all of these purchases and sales were made in the defendant's name, and that he holds the title to all of the joint property unsold, except the stock of the Taylor Lee & Smith company; that the defendant is investing the joint property and assets in other enterprises without the consent of the plaintiff, and refuses to give him a statement of their mutual accounts, and that the share of the profits of these enterprises to which the plaintiff is entitled amounts to $175,000 or $200,000. The prayers of the bill are for a receiver, an accounting and general relief.

WERE ALL DENIED

The answer contains a distinct and complete denial of all the averments of ownership, joint purchase or interest, and avers that all the stock, lands, etc., referred to in the bill were bought by the defendant with his own funds, or upon his own credit, and for his own account; that there was never any agreement, or understanding of any nature or kind with the plaintiff that he was to receive any compensation for his services in connection with these transactions, or any profits arising therefrom; that the only services he rendered were in matters of detail after the negotiations were completed, and that these were rendered voluntarily by him in expectation that his position as an officer of some of the companies connected with the property would be assured if they became vested in the defendant. The answer is fully responsive, the denial of every material allegation being specific and absolute.

In equity a responsive answer is conclusive in favor of the defendant unless it is overcome by the testimony of two creditable witnesses, or of one witness and such corroborating facts and circumstances as are equal to the testimony of another witness. The plaintiff was the only witness who testified to the making of an agreement by which he acquired any interest in the properties purchased, and all of his testimony in relation thereto was denied by the defendant. In order, therefore, to entitle him to a decree for an account it was necessary, first that his testimony should clearly show that a partnership agreement had been made as alleged in the bill, and corroborated by facts or circumstances secondly that his testimony should be established by indisputable evidence.

THE TURNING POINT OF THE WHOLE CASE

The turning point of the case was the relation of the parties to each other in the purchase of the stock of the Ohio Valley Gas company. As to this, the allegation is that there was a partnership agreement to unite their credit, efforts and influence, and to divide equally the profits of management and sale. Upon this allegation the whole case rests. In considering the plaintiff's testimony in relation to this subject it is important to understand the condition of the company and the relation of the parties to it. The capital of the Ohio Valley Gas company was $1,000,000, divided into 20,000 shares, 19,000 of which were owned by the Guaranty Trust company, of Philadelphia. The gas company was not prosperous. It had many miles of pipe, and a market for all the gas it could furnish, but the supply of gas was insufficient, and its increase by the purchase of new territory and the drilling of more wells involved an expenditure that the trust company was unwilling to make. The plaintiff was president of the gas company and for several years had been in charge of its affairs. He had six shares of stock.

The defendant was not a stockholder, but a creditor of the company. The total indebtedness of the company was $56,000, and of this there was due the defendant $23,000 for drilling wells, for which he received the company's notes, and had them discounted by a Pittsburgh bank. The bank was pressing him for payment, and declined to assent to a renewal of the notes. Under these circumstances the parties met in Pittsburgh in January, 1896, and discussed the payment of the notes and the condition of the company. The plaintiff told the defendant that the company could not then pay the notes and that he saw no future for the company, unless more money could be put into the business, and that the trust company was unwilling to do this. The defendant then suggested that they together purchase the stock, and the plaintiff declined to consider the proposition until he was made certain that arrangements could be made to get enough money to put the company on a paying basis. What then took place is best known by the plaintiff's testimony. "Mr. Smith said to me after we had been talking along this line: 'What is the matter with you and I buying the stock of the Ohio Valley Gas company?' and I replied to him that it was not much good for him and me to buy the stock of the Ohio Valley Gas company, unless we had money to put it on a paying basis to operate it properly. He said he believed he could get the money to do that from Mellon's bank, and asked me, if he could do that, whether I would be willing to go in and take a half interest in the company, and he and I run it together; and I replied to him that it would be time enough for him and me to talk about the interest he and I should take after he found he could make these financial arrangements, and after we found we could buy the stock from the Philadelphia people."

TO BUY THE STOCK

The same day the defendant arranged to borrow enough money to buy the stock and went to Philadelphia to negotiate for it, taking the plaintiff with him. The plaintiff advised the trust company to sell its stock for $75,000, unless it was willing to advance more money, and it sold to the plaintiff for that price. It is clear that at this time no agreement of partnership or joint interest had been entered into. The defendant purchased the stock with his own money or on his own credit, and the plaintiff had distinctly declined to consider any proposition until it was ascertained both that the stock could be purchased and that sufficient money could be raised to enlarge the plant.

The second conversation between the parties took place in a sleeping car on their way home from Philadelphia. The plaintiff's testimony concerning it is as follows: "Mr. Smith said to me: 'Now, we have arranged to buy the stock of the Philadelphia people, and I want you to stay with me and the company, and we will operate the company or put it in shape to sell it, and if we can make money by operating the company or by getting it in shape to sell it, and do sell it, I want you to have a half interest in it.' And I said to Mr. Smith: 'My ex-

SECOND DEFEAT OF LOCAL TEAM

Yesterdays' Game, Owing to Costly Errors, Easily Won By Visitors.

BARKER GOT DISGUSTED

And Refused to Pitch After the Fifth Inning—Ashbaugh Succeeded Him, But Also Received Poor Support. Score 12 to 4 at End of Fiasco.

For the second time the East Liverpool base ball team met defeat at the hands of the Royal Tiger Giants in the game played yesterday afternoon at the West End park. It was Manager Walsh's expectation to have his team strengthened yesterday, but other than securing Catcher May, of the Monaca club, the lineup was little different from that of yesterday.

Godwin was unable to take part in the game and Stillwell was placed at short. His playing was a sad disappointment to everybody, and at the fifth inning he was taken out of the game. Barker, who was in the pitcher's box for the locals, became so disgusted that he quit in the middle of the game and allowed Ashbaugh to take his place. Barker succeeded Stillwell at short and played the position with credit.

Ashbaugh pitched a good game, but the heavy hitting colored men soon got after his curves and scored runs with aggravating regularity. Had the local team played Wednesday and yesterday as they did with the Monacas, the Tigers would have had a hard time winning. It was not due to their good playing that secured them the easy victories; errors are alone responsible.

The players of the colored team told Manager Walsh that they had not met an amateur team this year that played a stronger game than the East Liverpool boys. The fact that the Michigan aggregation has nothing else to do but play ball is ample reason why they should put up a fast game. They had to play hard for their earned runs, and admitted that if the locals had kept their errors down the games would have been close ones.

Tomorrow the local team will play at Silver Lake, the Brooklyns, of Cleveland, being their opponents. Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week the McKeesport deaf mutes will play the East Liverpools on the West End grounds.

Two-base hits—Johnson. Three-base hits—Buckner and May. Double plays—T. Davis and Wallace; Moore, Grant and Robinson; Grant, Moore and Robinson. Bases on balls—By Buckner, 3. Hit by pitched ball—By Buckner, 1; by Ashbaugh, 1. Struck out—By Barker, 4; by Buckner, 4. Wild pitches—Ashbaugh, 1. Umpire—Howard.

CAUGHT IN CLOUD BURST

Two Men Driving Through a Creek Near Bethany Narrowly Escaped Death.

A small cloud burst near Bethany, W. Va., Wednesday came near wiping out the lives of two men. As William A. Moore and Homer Carman approached McFadden run, a little stream which crosses the road and empties into Buffalo creek, they discovered that it was rising, but had no thought that it was dangerous. Just as the buggy struck the water they noticed a tremendous flood rushing at them like a torrent, and in a moment the buggy was upset.

With the rapidity of a race horse they were rushed and jammed for a hundred yards until the buggy was a perfect wreck and they were almost drowned, with just enough life left to cut the harness. The horse staggered to dry land, where they finally managed to drag their weakened and almost exhausted frames.

Decision Reserved.

The hearing in the case of Patrick Fitzpatrick and Mervin Collins, who engaged in a lively scrap at Wellsville Wednesday night, was held this morning before Mayor Dennis. Several witnesses were called and the hearing was a long one. The mayor reserved his decision.

THE BIG CIRCUS ARRIVED TODAY

Forepaugh and Sells Bros.' 26th Century Colossus at West End Park.

GREAT PARADE AT NOON

Which Was Witnessed By Thousands of People—All Streets Crowded. Cortege Was Imposing And Many Features Were New.

The Forepaugh & Sells Bros.' big circus arrived in the city at about 6 o'clock this morning from Canal Dover. It required three trains of cars to carry the monster collection of wagons, cages, animals, etc., and it was almost 10 o'clock before the paraphernalia was unloaded.

At about noon the parade started from the West End grounds, coming up to Franklin street, where a turn was made into Sixth. Every street through which the parade passed was thronged with people. The cortege was composed of features of a strictly up-to-date nature and vastly interesting.

A bugle band headed the procession. Mother Goose followed and Cinderella, Red Riding Hood and other fairyland folk fell in behind. There were men and women mounted, animals from all climes and of all kinds, horsemen who drove a dozen horses with ease, chariots with women drivers, one hunch, two hunch and three hunch camels, elephants of all sizes and dispositions, open cages showing all the species of the animal kingdom, a "Soo-see" band with here and there an orchestra sandwiched in and the procession bringing up with a steam piano, which was dispensing music galore.

Several of the animal cages were open, exposing lions, tigers, panthers, leopards and other ferocious beasts. The horses were far superior to those of the average circus and in fact the parade in its entirety was greatly in excess of the expectations of the majority of persons who witnessed it.

A large crowd attended the performance this afternoon.

SIX GRIEVANCES

BROUGHT BEFORE THE BOARD LAST EVENING.

There Will Be 25 or 30 All Told, And Will Receive Attention At Once.

The standing committee met last evening at the Potters' club with all members present. The arbitrators began their work by making S. M. Ferguson chairman and T. J. Duffy secretary.

But six grievances were brought before the board last evening. The committee had expected a much larger number.

According to the plan adopted by the new board these six differences will be adjusted tomorrow afternoon. This course will be pursued in the future until all of the 25 or 30 grievances known to be pending will have been settled.

The committee will first hear the cases and take all the information bearing thereon, and at a meeting held later will adjust them.

It is gratifying to both the Brotherhood members and the manufacturers to know that at last a board has been selected that will serve, and that as soon as the disputes which have accumulated during the past four or five months have been settled it will be an easy matter to look after the work as it comes up.

WOMAN'S ARM FOUND

Village Near Pittsburg Excited By a Gruesome Mystery.

Pittsburg, August 19.—The village of Six Mile Ferry, a small place between Pittsburg and Homestead on the Monongahela river, has a mystery that looks like murder. On Sunday afternoon a man in the village when going through a ravine found the arm of a woman. The arm looked as though it had been cut off at the shoulder by a sharp instrument. At first the finder thought the arm had been thrown into the river by a medical student or physician, but the fact that the arm was incased by a sleeve aroused his suspicions, and he began to investigate. A short distance from where he found the arm a silk dress of the latest fashion and of excellent material was found under a lot of bushes.

It seems that after the finder reported his discovery, a number of men of the village went to the place and began investigation. Some blood stains on the grass, or what seemed to be blood, together with the arm and the dress, made the villagers think that murder had been committed. The fact that the articles were found in the ravine, where crimes are said to have taken place, place color to the murder theory. The ravine has been searched, but no body found.

NO CHANGE NOTED

IN THE SITUATION AT THE WELLSVILLE MILL.

The situation as regards the strike is unchanged today. The men were stirred by President Shaffer's speech yesterday. It is said that two of the non-union men who were working quit today. No other union men have gone back and it appears that they are stronger in their intention to stay out of the mill than ever before.

The report in a local paper that Julius Goetz had approached a business man in town and had asked him to join in a movement to persuade the men to go back to work has incensed that gentleman very much. He says that he believes it would be better for the men to go back to work. Several of the business men give credence to the report that, if the trouble continues here, the mill will be moved to some other place. They say that the mill is the principal support of Wellsville and that just at this time, when the citizens are trying to obtain new industries here, it would be a shame to have the greatest industry of the city moved away.

On the other hand some of them are inclined to believe Persifor F. Smith's statement that if things go right here, the Dennison mill will be moved to this city.

President Shaffer said yesterday that Wellsville is recognized as the strike center. He said that the events that might happen here in the next few weeks were of wide importance. All eyes are turned to this locality and the events here may determine the whole character of the trouble elsewhere.

FIERCE STORM

ELECTRICITY AND RAIN DO DAMAGE AT SALEM.

A Burst Sewer Causes Cellars to Be Flooded And Pavements Torn Up.

Salem, July 19. (Special)—A severe downpour of rain, almost resembling a cloudburst, accompanied by fierce lightning, visited this city yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. Several houses were struck by lightning, but no great damage was done. Many trees were splintered.

The worst results of the storm were the flooding of cellars and the tearing up of pavements. East Main street was flooded for two blocks and a number of cellars had to be pumped out by fire engines. On Depot street the storm sewer burst and tore up considerable paving. The storm sewers were utterly inadequate to carry off the rain fall.

FOR THE FOURTH TIME

The Patterson Road Case Is Again Before Court at Lisbon.

Lisbon, July 19.—(Special)—The Patterson road case is on trial in the probate court today. John Patterson, of Elkrun, seeks to have a road run through the Pollock farm to his premises which he now reaches by a private driveway.

The case has been tried three times and each time the road has been refused.

YACHT CAPSIZED

And Its Owner, Daughters And Crew Were Drowned.

New Haven, July 19.—(Special)—Arthur C. Colburn, of Philadelphia; his daughters Ida and Annetta, Captain Flint and a sailor, were drowned this morning by the capsizing of the yacht Venetia in Long Island Sound.

President Shaffer Addressed a Crowded Meeting at City Hall.

MUCH EXCELLENT COUNSEL

MILL SITUATION UNCHANGED

The greatest labor meeting ever held in Wellsville was that at which President Theodore J. Shaffer, of the Amalgamated Association, spoke yesterday afternoon in the city hall.

The meeting in the city hall, Wellsville, yesterday afternoon was the most important and best attended of any held so far by the rolling mill-men. The hall was packed. Every seat was taken and the rear was filled with those who were compelled to stand. At the reporters' table were 10 correspondents, six being from other cities.

The speakers, Theodore Shaffer, president of the Amalgamated Asso-

Mr. Chappell, in opening the meeting said: "It is a pleasure to me to see such a gathering of workmen as this here in Wellsville. Had a meeting of this character been held here three weeks ago many people would have considered it a crime. The outlook is much better today than it has been since the beginning of the present trouble. Victory is nearer and it is sure to come to those who are in the right."

National Trustee John H. Morgan read the resolutions that were adopted by the Trades and Labor Council of East Liverpool endorsing the Amalgamated Association, and which were printed in the News Review yesterday. Then he addressed the meeting with a short speech which was only given to afford President Shaffer a little rest after his ride on the train. He said:

"I want to say that we certainly have the good will of the men in Wellsville and East Liverpool. It is only what we deserved and what we anticipated. We have the good will of the citizens all over the United States. As I have said here before, the history of the Amalgamated Association is well known. This is not a quarrel with our employers as a result of any radical measures taken by the association; it is not a quarrel over any financial trouble; it is a fight for the very principles upon which the Amalgamated Association is founded—upon which every labor organization throughout the United States is founded.

"We desire a union wage for a union day's work. If, for instance, a man owns a mill in Chester and one in Wellsville, he cannot run one of them union and the other non-union. Either the union must make the non-union conform to their way or else the company will make the union conform to non-union ways of doing business. We don't desire to stand back and see

QUIETLY MARRIED

Mrs. Della Heckathorn and Mr. Spence Ridson Wedded
Monday.

Mrs. Della Heckathorn and Spence Ridson were married Monday evening.
The affair was conducted very quietly and the contracting parties refused to state who performed the ceremony.
They will reside on Locust avenue.

A Pleasant Surprise Party.

A delightful surprise party was held at the home of Miss Katie Stamm on Mulberry street last evening, the occasion being the fourteenth birthday of the hostess. The evening was passed at various games of amusement. An elaborate luncheon was served. The affair was greatly enjoyed.

Suffering from Hives.

James, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Day, is suffering from the effects of hives which almost cover the child's body. The little one becomes almost frantic in its attempts to allay the itching and it was necessary to summon a physician, who relieved the child's suffering.

Impressive Services.

Extensive preparations are being made for special services at the Second Presbyterian church Sunday, both morning and evening. The evening service will be especially impressive, the program for which will be printed in tomorrow's issue.

East Enders Defeated.

The East End Terriers went down to defeat before the Helena Jacks at Columbian park yesterday afternoon by a score of 8 to 2. The game was well attended.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Ed Lucas, of Calhoun's addition, is very ill, threatened with typhoid fever.

Miss Carrie Hargour, of St. George street, is ill threatened with typhoid fever.

Mrs. John Goddard, of Pennsylvania avenue, is dangerously ill with neuralgia of the heart.

The infant child of Mr. and Frank Knowles, of Calhoun's addition, is very ill with cholera infantum.

A. L. McGibbon and wife, of Sheffield, Pa., are visitors at the home of their son-in-law, Dr. F. F. Davis.

Ed Holman and family have returned from Fredericktown, Pa., where they have spent the past two weeks camping out.

The Junior League of the Second M. E. church held quite a successful lawn fete at the parsonage last evening. All the delicacies of the season were served at the tables and quite a neat sum was realized.

NEW INDUSTRY

Stone Quarry Employing Over 100 Men to Be Started at Lisbon.

Lisbon, July 19.—J. J. Thayer, of Warren, has leased the Burnett stone quarry, just above the Canton bridge, and will at once commence to operate the same. He will erect a large barn, a blacksmith shop, a sand depot and other buildings. New machinery will be placed in the quarry to crush all stone into sand which cannot be used as building stones. The work will be pushed rapidly and when the quarry gets fairly under way more than 100 men will be employed.

A REIGNING SENSATION

Mysterious Disappearance of a Prominent Citizen of Fairfield Township.

Lisbon, July 19.—The mysterious disappearance of Isaac Hurless, of Mosk, a prominent citizen and member of the Fairfield township board of education, is the reigning sensation in that section of the county.

WEST END ITEMS.

Mrs. Nellie Shaffer, of Jethro, is ill with typhoid fever.

J. W. Raper, who has been ill, threatened with typhoid fever, is again able to be out.

Miss Minnie Gray is ill with typhoid fever at the home of Justice McLane on Denver street.

Miss Stella Hall, of Jethro street, has returned from Oil City, Pa., where she has been visiting for some time past.

Chal Peterson has purchased the Litten property on Denver street in the West End, and will move there

NOTES AND NOTIONS

A VARIETY OF TALES PICKED UP ABOUT TOWN.Opinions and Observations of Interest As Noted By News Review Reporters.

A small member of the squirrel family, which is caged and in the care of Thomas Bambrick, is the object of a good deal of discussion at the park.
The squirrel is of a very peculiar color and the people who see it are unable to agree as to whether it is a red squirrel or a small gray squirrel. The pet was knocked down by a broom and caught at the pavilion early yesterday morning, after an exciting chase by the entire park force who were armed with brooms and clubs and all bent on the destruction of the harmless little animal, who had ventured from the woods to the building in search of food. It was stunned by a blow from the broom when caught, but recovered, and it is thought it will survive the effects.

Will Allison met with an exciting experience with a nest of copperheads which he discovered while cutting briars on his farm, two miles east of Chester yesterday. There were five of the venomous reptiles in the bunch which were first discovered by a dog belonging to Mr. Allison. The canine was bitten. Mr. Allison procured a stout club and succeeded in dispatching the entire number of the serpent family, but it required some swift work on his part.

He is now in a dilemma over what to do with the dog, which he fears may go mad from the effects of the wound.

Several residents of the lower part of Chester report having seen an enormous snake on the river bank. They think it escaped from one of the circuses which recently exhibited there.
Others say it is a speakeasy product.

Popular Lisbon Couple Wedded.

Lisbon, July 19.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Aldridge was the scene of a happy event Wednesday when their daughter, Miss Flora Elizabeth Aldridge, was married to Frank S. Duncan. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. P. Anderson, of the Presbyterian church. Both young people are well known in Lisbon and very popular.

Much Damage By Lightning.

Beaver Falls, Pa., July 19.—During a heavy thunderstorm lightning struck the plant of the Union Drawn Steel company, and damaged it to some extent. It also struck James Armstrong's barn in Chippewa township and killed one of his cattle. The barn took fire, but Armstrong and his neighbors extinguished the flames before much damage was done.

Wanted on Two Charges.

Youngstown, July 19.—After a lively chase for several blocks, in which the police were aided by citizens, W. S.
Lloyd, alias Haney, was arrested charged with tapping the till of his employer for $60. The police report that Haney is wanted in Beaver Falls for shooting his brother.

Steel Mill to Start.

Youngstown, July 19.—Orders have been issued at the National Steel plant to start the steel rail department in operation next Monday. The mill was shut down three months ago.

A Great Pulpit Record.

Niles, O., July 19.—Rev. D. C. Osborn, of this city, has been a minister for 48 years, and during that time has missed but two Sundays from pulpit services, and those lapses were caused by sickness.

Shops Burned by Lightning.

During a heavy electrical storm

DUNCANVILLE NOW

A Scene of Interest in the Great Strike—Shaffer There Today.

Pittsburg, July 19.—The center of the strike situation was temporarily shifted to Wellsville yesterday, owing to the mass meeting of strikers, which President Theodore J. Shaffer, of the Amalgamated association, addressed. Duncanville will become a center today to a lesser degree, owing to the intention of the Amalgamated association to establish a lodge there.
National Organizer John Pierce was sent to Duncanville last night to organize the men in the Portage iron works. This plant is owned by the American Steel Hoop company and employs about 800 or 900 men. A request that the men be organized was sent to President Shaffer yesterday. The men are anxious to join the strike movement.

In the case the Duncanville mill is closed today all of the plants of the American Steel Hoop company will be idle. All of the plants of the American Tin Plate company are idle save one. The sheet plants operating are at Vandergrift, Apollo, Leechburg, Saltsburg, Scottsdale and Old Meadows. All of the men now striking are holding firm, and the Amalgamated officials have not the least fear that any of the idle plants can be started until the word is given by the association.

U. S. STEEL CORPORATION
WILL NOT ARBITRATE.

New York, July 19.—The following official statement, according to the Journal and Advertiser, in its issue yesterday morning, has been given out by a member of the firm of J. P.
Morgan & Co.: "The United States Steel corporation will not consent to any arbitration of the present difficulty. There is nothing to arbitrate.
The company stands willing to agree to the demands of the men as to wages and hours. If there is any other question at issue, it is merely a sentimental one, raised by the amalgamated association."

INTERFERE IN STRIKE.

New York, July 19.—Mr. Andrew Carnegie, on being approached at his home in Scotland by a representative of the Journal and Advertiser and asked to express an opinion with regard to the strike, formally declined to be interviewed. He was asked if he would interfere and replied: "I must firmly refuse to do so. On being asked if he considered the men right in their demands he said: "I will not discuss the strike."

TWIN TROUBLES

They Are Often Together These Days.
They Work Havoc All Over the Country And in East Liverpool

Weak, nervous, the digestion out of order—that is what ails a host of people. It comes about in this way—first from overwork or other causes, the nerves are burdened beyond endurance, nerve waste is not replaced, nerve force is weakened, then the stomach loses its nerve controlling power and indigestion follows with failing strength. When first Dr. A. W.
Chase's Nerve Pills came to East Liverpool people could hardly be convinced that this great medicine would remove these troubles—Now it is an accepted fact because of their cure of very stubborn cases no other medicine would influence. Margaret Tracy, of 178 Seventh street, East Liverpool, O., says: "One of my family was very nervous, subject to nervous spells—weak and miserable—could not sleep and the digestion was very poor. I asked the invalid to take Dr. A. W.
Chase's Nerve Pills I got at Larkins' drug store, corner Sixth and East Market streets. The result was splendid—the blood—made the nerves strong—gave restful sleep and so strengthened the stomach that digestion is perfect—the old time languid, played out feeling has given place to one of strength and energy and as a result we are more than pleased with the medicine."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers, or

Washington, July 19.—A preliminary statement of the Chinese poputhe twelfth census, was issued by Di-that there are approximately 89,000 Chinese in the United States proper, as against 107,475 in 1890.

SOME STOCKS WERE ERRATIC.

 gyrations of Certain Ones Caused Speculative Judgment to Be Unsettled Thursday.

New York, July 19.—Speculative judgment on Thursday's stock market was unsettled and inconclusive under the influence of the erratic gyrations of Union Pacific, St. Paul and, to a lesser extent, other railroads immediately affected by the Northern Pacific settlement announced late Wednesday. The influence of that announcement was dominant at the opening of the stock market, as was shown by the congested buying of the stocks of the railroads affected and of the steel stocks. The simultaneous purchases of Union Pacific at the opening were of 10,000 shares at 103 3/4, compared with 102 3/4 Wednesday night, and of St. Paul 8,000 shares at 165 1/2 to 165, compared with 163 3/4 Wednesday night. United States Steel was also dealt in to the extent of 8,000 shares, varying in prices from 40 1/2 to 41 1/4, compared with 40 1/2 Wednesday night. The price of this stock at the opening was the highest of the day and it was under steady pressure through the mutations of the market, getting down nearly a point under Wednesday night and closing at a fractional net loss. The whole market felt the effect almost immediately of enormous realizing sales, and the successive declines suggested the conjecture that inside interests which bought stocks Wednesday were selling out to take profits. The belief prevailed in the board that the large capitalists who supported the market on Monday and Tuesday by buying practically all offerings of the leading stocks were lightening their load, taking advantage of the effect of the Northern Pacific announcement to reduce their holdings. The rather palpable manipulation of the market and the circulation of vague intimations that further disclosures were coming of additional arrangements under the Northern Pacific settlement added to this impression. Rather frank admissions were forthcoming that the announcement of the Northern Pacific settlement was timed with a view to quieting apprehensions and checking the uneasiness in the stock market against the earlier decision of those interested to withhold the announcement until a later period. This gave color to the belief that the policy thus adopted to rally the stock market had in view as well as the moral effect upon the steel strike situation of an advance in the steel stocks. These considerations served to take the edge off of the announcement of the Northern Pacific settlement. There was a period after midday when the general level of prices had receded well below Wednesday night, even Union Pacific and St. Paul showing losses. The weakness in Atchison, Rock Island, the coalers and some of the southern lines were quite pronounced. It was late in the day when Union Pacific began its final upward movement.
The demand for the stock was apparently insatiable, blocks of 1,000 to 4,000 shares succeeding each other in quick succession. Every effort was also apparently to bid up the price of the stocks. It touched 109 before the close and St. Paul was lifted to 168 3/4 and Southern Pacific to 57. The market rallied in sympathy, but did not generally get back to the best. Chicago and Northwestern rose 6 and General Electric 8 1/2. The buoyant rise in Union Pacific revived the belief in further developments in the community of interest plan in the west. The closing was feverish and irregular below the best.

Throwing Rice.

How many people know that the custom of throwing rice at a wedding symbolizes not the expression of good luck, but it is a metaphorical flight of arrows shot at the bridegroom. In uncivilized ages most nations were accustomed to the forcible capture of a bride by her lover, and the attempts on the part of her male relatives to prevent her husband from carrying her away is typified by a volley of rice instead of more fatal missiles.

Shoving the Queer.

The game of counterfeiting in this country is played by people of all nationalities, and, although some women and children are used as tools, men take the principal parts. After having made the coin the great problem is how to convert it into good money. The maker rarely takes part in that operation. It is the business of gangs, which consist usually of two persons, known as the "holder" and the "shover."

The holder carries a stock of the counterfeit money, and the shover has one piece. This he takes to a store or a saloon and buys something for a small amount, and when he comes into the street the holder sees him from his position a block away, joins him, receives the good money and hands him another counterfeit.

The object is to work so that the shover, if detected, may plead innocence and prove that the piece is the only one that he has and that he has no other money. Some clever operators go so far as to mix good coin with the bad.

Administered in Three Churches, Be-

Crowds Attended—Rev. Judson Hill
Led Devotions at Convention.

San Francisco, July 19.—The Epworth League convention of 1901 was formally opened at Mechanics' pavillion. For about a week the city of travel had been toward San Francisco, until Epworth hosts, 25,000 strong, had been poured into the city ready for the opening services. Arrivals continued at all hours Wednesday night and in the early hours of Thursday morning, but about the last belated train was in and about the last tired traveler had been given a warm welcome by the reception committee before the first number on Thursday's program was called. The great pavilion was decorated and ready. The last tack had been driven and the last bit of color had been added in good time. The vast auditorium, with seats for 10,000 and additional facilities for a chorus of 2,000, which will give special concerts, presented a pleasing sight. The entire auditorium was canopied by American flags, while around the gallery railing red and white bunting was draped gracefully, with here and there shields of America and Great Britain, while their respective flags crossed above them. The stage was hung with gold colored bunting, the state's color.

The throng began assembling early for the opening ceremonies, which began about 2:30 p. m. Thursday, everyone enthusiastic and happy. From the cool breezes of the east to the temperature of 60, was a welcome and exhilarating change to the pilgrims, if their looks and actions of Thursday may be taken as evidence.
About 11 o'clock Thursday morning three celebrations of the Lord's Supper were held in the First Presbyterian, Central Methodist and the Howard Street Methodist churches.
These meetings were purely devotional in character, but were attended by crowds that taxed the capacity of the buildings.
About 1:30 p. m. a missionary conference was held at the headquarters on Larkin street. At the same time a business meeting of the presiding elders and league officials assembled at the pavilion in order to prepare for the day's activities.

When Chairman Filben ascended the platform and rapped for order, about 2:30 p. m., every seat in the building had an occupant, while many others sought standing room. The vast audience greeted the chairman with the Chautauqua salute and then listened to the opening song service.
Following was the official program of the day:

2:30 p. m.—Opening of the convention in Mechanics' pavilion. Rev.
Thomas Filben presiding. Song service, led by Robert Husband; devotions, led by Rev. Judson Hill; addresses of welcome by Governor Gage, Mayor Phelan, Bishop Hamilton and Rev. J. C. Symonds, of Woodland.
Responses on behalf of the Methodist Episcopal church by Bishop I. W.
Joyce, Minneapolis; on behalf of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, Rev. H. M. Du Bose, Nashville, Tenn.; on behalf of the Methodist Episcopal church of Canada, Rev. James Henderson, Toronto; on behalf of the colored Methodist Episcopal church, A. A. Carter, Atlanta, Ga.

Thursday evening three meetings were held, at the main pavilion, at the Alhambra theater and at Metropolitan temple. The principal theme at all these meetings was "The Young People's Movement in the Twentieth Century," discussed by Rev. Charles Bayard Mitchell, of Minneapolis; Rev.
Alonso Monk, Nashville, and Rev. C.
W. Willard, of Yonkers, N. Y., respectively.

FOSBURG TRIAL BEGAN.

Man Charged With Killing His Own Sister.

Pittsfield, Mass., July 19.—The trial of Robert Stuart Fosburg, charged with killing his own sister, May L.
Fosburg, last August, was begun here.
The arrest of Fosburg caused a wave of excitement all over New England. The members of the Fosburg family contend that robbers entered the house and attacked Robert Fosburg and his father and that the young woman was killed by a bullet fired by a burglar.

The prosecution is based on the theory that the shooting was the result of a bitter quarrel in which young Fosburg, using his own revolver, shot his sister, although intending the bullet for another member of the family.

COUNTY AND NEIGHBORHOOD

While riding on a load of hay, Mrs.
Anna Soule, of Winona, fell and broke a leg.

Emma Holliday has been appointed postmaster at Glasgow, Columbiana county.

The Columbiana County Telephone company now has 2,050 instruments in use.

Christian Roebke, a Unity township farmer, recently lost 17 sheep in one night by a foray of dogs.

The barn on the Essick farm, near Moultrie, was struck by lightning recently and burned to the ground.

The new pipe organ, a present from Andrew Carnegie, is being placed in the Presbyterian church at Leetonia.

The Presbyterian church congregation of Leetonia has filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state.

The oats crop is unusually late in this county, and but little will be ready for cutting before the first of August.

The town council of Columbiana proposes to obviate the expense of building a village jail by securing a steel cage and placing it in the town hall.

The St. Joseph Greek Catholic church, a new organization of Toronto, has received an Ohio charter and will this summer erect a church edifice and parsonage.

Mrs. Emerson E. White, the venable mother of Governor A. B. White, of West Virginia, died at her home in Columbus, O., aged 74 years. She was born in Hudson, O. Her husband, Dr.
White, and three children, survive her.

TO HELP INVENTORS.

Unique Institution Soon to Be Founded by Thomas A. Edison.

Edison, America's greatest inventor, is about to establish an institute for the benefit of other inventors. It is to be situated in Paris and is to be for the benefit of scientific explorers of any nationality, race or creed who choose to avail themselves of it. The purpose of the institution is the helping of struggling inventors rich in genius, but

THOMAS A. EDISON.

poor in purse, who have not the means of pursuing their investigations to their ultimate end. The institution is to have machinery, laboratories, workshops and a library, all donated by Mr. Edison.

In establishing this institute Mr. Edison shows that he has not forgotten his own early struggles. The great inventor began life poor and entered business as a train boy. He rose to his present position of wealth and fame through hard work and determination. It has long been Mr. Edison's wish to do something for poor inventors, and in his proposed institute he seems to have found his opportunity.

Plans for the Edison Institute have been under discussion for some time.
M. Gourand, the European partner of Mr. Edison, has had active charge of the matter, and he has interested the French government and President Lou-bet in the plan. The institute will be one of great magnitude. The laboratory alone will have branches for the various sciences, one department being devoted entirely to electricity, another to chemistry, etc. The workshops will be fitted up in the latest and most approved manner, and the library will be comprehensive enough to include any work of interest or profit to an inventor. The institution in plan and scope will be unique.

No site has yet been selected for the Edison institute. It has been decided to locate it within the limits of the city of Paris in some easily accessible quarter.
The institute will, if the expectations of the founder are realized, be in active operation in a year and a half. Every deserving man who is an inventor or who is struggling with some invention which he is prevented from completing by lack of means or of facilities will be welcomed at the institute and will receive aid. It is easy to understand the great amount of good to the world that may flow from the doors of the Edison institute.

Owes His Life to Neighbor's Kindness

Mr. D. P. Daugherty, well known throughout Mercer and Sumner counties, W. Va., most likely owes his life to the kindness of a neighbor. He was almost hopelessly afflicted with diarrhea, was attended by two physicians who gave him little, if any relief, when a neighbor learning of his serious condition, brought him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured him in less than 24 hours. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, druggist.

DEMOCRATIC BOASTS.

Democratic gains are always numerous in Ohio until after election.
This year they are something marvelous—as they appear on paper. Hon.
Charles H. Grovenor—a shrewd political observer, if there is one in America—has seen these Democratic boasts
and sized them up. Prior to his departure for Europe for a brief vacation, he was interviewed in New York,
and his remarks on the situation
make timely and interesting reading.
The hollowness of the Democratic claims and the exceeding faintness of
the rainbow which the clamorous partisans are chasing are plainly exposed by the Athens county veteran. Said he:

"The Democrats of my state are making a great parade of men, as they say, 'brought back to the fold.' Now,
as a matter of fact, there isn't one man of those that voted for McKinley
as against Bryan who has left the Republican lines. They talk about Judson Harmon, the attorney general in Cleveland's cabinet; Lawrence Maxwell, the ex-solicitor general, or Harlan Cleveland, who was district attorney, or Moses S. Wilson, a prominent
them voted against Bryan."

General Grosvenor remarks that if the Democrats wereright when they made such a hurrah over Bryan's platform of anarchy and free silver, they cannot be right now. And if they were wrong then, nobody is going to trust them now. The Democratic
confidence. Republicans do not fear
them and know that their ante-election
boasts are the echo of the same old refrain. They are whistling to keep their courage up. Courage is a grand quality, when it is genuine and not feigned. But it will not win an election.

A COMMENDABLE BOYCOTT.

The boycott is not generally favored
as a means of securing desired reforms, and is usually a last resort with those who employ it. But a boycott which has been instituted at Rockford, Ill., will undoubtedly meet with instant popular approval. It is the girls of Rockford who have instituted the boycott and it is the young men of that town against whom it is directed.

A strong organization, which
is warmly encouraged by the
clergy and backed by parents having marriageable daughters, has been formed for the purpose of socially boycotting all young men who do not behave themselves. Those who use beer
or other intoxicants, those who gamble or bet on races, and those who smoke cigarettes all fall under its
ban. The society proposes to keep its members informed of the habits of young men and to allow none of them to escape its vigilance. The girls claim they will bar out of their society

every young man known to be bad. If they will hold firmly to this determination they can undoubtedly accomplish much good.

EXCELLENT ADVICE.

Wellsville is attracting national attention. It is fortunate indeed for the town in the present great struggle
that the direction of the strike is in
the hands of prudent and cautious
men. A large portion of the address of President Theodore J. Shaffer, of
the Amalgamated Association—who,
by the way, was formerly a Wellsville mill hand—to the men on Thursday evening was devoted to advising them
to avoid the saloons and to avoid im-
temperance in every form, language
included. On this point his counsel, like that of all the other union officials
who have addressed the mill men, was
as sound and judicious as man could utter. The great association which he represents will gain increased respect
and esteem under such capable and conservative leadership. It is to be hoped that his excellent advice will be followed, not only in Wellsville, but
great strike.

In Great Britain 184,336 persons
were committed to prison last year. A surprising fact in the criminal statistics is that Scotland has a far greater number of criminals in proportion to population than any other portion of the United Kingdom. A partial explanation is that the Scotch arrest
about all their criminals. The rest of the explanation is probably to be found in Scotch whisky.

Literary circles are excited over the fact that, although the wedding of Miss Mary E. Wilkins was scheduled to take place months ago, it has not yet occurred. Well, what of it? Hasn't
a novelist as much right as any other
lady to exercise a woman's privilege of changing her mind?

The unloaded revolver and the swimming pool continue to reduce the juvenile population day by day.

OHIO POLITICS

The expected rising of the free-silver forces of Ohio, as a protest against
the further foisting of what is known as the Cleveland brand of Democracy
upon the plain people, had its inception
with John J. Lentz. It will be recalled that Lentz wrote the amendment to
the preamble to the resolutions adopted by the convention, declaring in favor of the indorsement of the Kansas City platform. The amendment to the report was presented by W. L. Finley,
of Kenton, editor of the Kenton News,
one of the stoutest Lentz advertisers,
who has boomed him in his paper for everything from president down to dog catcher. Lentz prepared the minority report. The expected happened. The Finley resolution was knocked out and the spectacle was then presented of John R. McLean, as the supreme boss of the Ohio Democracy, being in a position of hostility to Bryan and the Kansas City platform. This will place McLean in a position where he will be fought by every Bryanite in Ohio in his senatorial ambition. There was considerable method in the Finley minority report, its object, engineered
by Lentz, being to create a split in the Democratic party, and to have Bryan
to come out in opposition to McLean.
—Ohio State Journal.

Colonel A. W. Taylor will be at the head of the literary bureau in the new Democratic state committee organization. The colonel will be able to figure out a glorious Democratic victory,
no matter how discouraging the election returns may be. Such a thing as results is not allowed to clip the wings
of his elegant fancy.

Local union No. 48, warehousemen, held a very interesting meeting Wednesday evening. They took in one new member and received four new applications. After the reports of the delegates to the convention were heard the installation of officers was held. They are as follows: President, Joseph Cordingley; vice president, Hugh
Hamill; recording secretary, Chal
Baxter; financial secretary, Herbert Smith; assistant financial secretary, Louis Faulk; treasurer, T. O.
Terrance; stewards, Herbert Smith
and Walter Williams; statistician, A.
Biggins; inspector, O. Bennett. A special meeting of the local has been called for next Wednesday evening.

Walter DeVille, employed as boss
of the decorating shop at D. E. Mc-Nicol's, will resign his position Saturday. He has accepted one as superintendent of the decorating departments of the East Liverpool Potteries company and will enter upon his new duties Monday. His place at McNicol's will be taken by Robert Slack, formerly of the Murphy plant.

The work of enlarging the sample
room at the D. E. McNicol pottery has been completed. The room now has an additional space of 12 feet and it presents a very handsome appearance.

Cliff Lowary has resigned his position at Sebring and returned to this city. He has accepted a sticking-up job at the Sevres.

Thomas Hill has resigned his position at Wallace & Chetwynd's and has accepted one making oatmeals at the Sevres.

Ed O'Neal has resigned his position as jiggerman at the Brunt pottery and has accepted a similar one at D. E.
McNicol's.

S. Scaratt has resigned his position as jiggerman at Wallace & Chetwynd's and accepted a similar one at the Sevres.

Miss Martha Quinn has accepted a position as finisher at the Taylor, Lee & Smith pottery.

Miss Margaret Dawson has accepted a position in the decorating shop of
the D. E. McNicol pottery.

The circus fever struck the potter-
ies with full force and many ran shorthanded or not at all.

William Hutchinson has accepted a position as presser at Brunt's.

Dallas Stutler has accepted a position sticking-up at McNicol's.

The following pottery notes have been received from Sebring:

Miss George Buzard has accepted work in the glost wareroom of the Sebring pottery.

John Alman, printer at the Oliver China, goes to the French-China to work next Monday.

L. B. Reeder, of Kensington, is an addition to the office force of the Oliver China company.

George Wilson, of Indiana, expects to take his place with the Oliver China printers this week.

Miss Rosa Muhlemann and Miss Rosa Amstutz, both of Alliance, have taken places as fillers-in at the Oliver China company.

Miss Hattie and Ella Andrews, of Carrollton, and Miss Bertha Horning, of Alliance, are new fillers-in at the Sebring pottery.

James Ward, formerly an employe of the French China pottery, at East Liverpool, has arrived at Sebring,
where he has accepted a position as presser with his old employer.

An additional jigger has been placed in the Oliver China, and more
room has been given two other jig-gers. The improvement is appreciated by the workmen.

William Hollingshead, the French China glost setter-out, is filling the place of Millard Cochran at the Oliver China company, while Mr. Cochran is taking a much needed rest.

Robert Jewell, dipper for the French China company, is taking the place of Ed Flentke this week at the Oliver China company, while Mr.
Flentke is finishing up his vacation.

Miss Alice Brandon, forelady of the decorating department of the Oliver China company, has returned to her work after a pleasant vacation with relatives and friends at East Liverpool.

TWICE ARRESTED

JOHN ALLISON LANDED IN NEW CUMBERLAND JAIL.

A Vanport Man Accused Him of Horse Stealing And Made Him Give Up.

John Allison was arrested in the park this morning by Officer Finley on a charge of horse stealing, preferred by a Wellsville man. The man was mistaken in the culprit and Allison was released, but immediately arrested again on a charge of trespassing, which had been preferred by the park management several days ago. He was fined $5 and costs and in default of payment was committed to the county jail for five days.

Allison was taken to New Cumberland on the noon train by Officer Finley.

Parties from the vicinity of West Point who visited the city this morning report that John Allison has been up to his old tricks in that vicinity again.

He stole a buggy from a man named Black, residing at Vanport, Pa. The owner pursued Allison and succeeded in overtaking him near West Point.

Allison was compelled to give up the property, and had there been a magistrate in the vicinity he would have been arrested.

LOCATION FIXED

Chester Council Decides to Have Town Hall on Site Selected.

Chester council decided last evening to have the city building built at the location already chosen. The petition was turned down, it is said, because a large number of the signers were not tax payers.

The franchise for the Columbiana county telephone company was granted with an amendment requiring the company to furnish free 'phones for official use at the city building.

The application of the Bell company for a franchise was turned down through a mistake as some of the solons thought they were voting for an amendment requiring free 'phones for official use. The matter will be taken up again at the next meeting.

The entire council was appointed a committee to arrange for a fire department, with G. A. Arner as chairman.

The Chester water works people submitted an offer to furnish water at $40 per plug for the number of plugs less than fifty and $30 for all above that number. The matter was laid over.

SOUTHSIDE NEWS NOTES.

W. F. Brown, of Brownsdale, was a Chester visitor yesterday.

Robert Marshall, who suffered a relapse from typhoid fever, is slightly improved, but is still very ill.

Miss Catherine Stewart, of New Cumberland, is visiting at the home of her brother, Harry Stewart, on Fairview road.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace, of Urichsville, O., have moved their household effects to Chester, where they will make their future home.

TWO FIGHTERS

THEY GOT TOGETHER AND BRUISED EACH OTHER.

Paid a Fine of $2 And Costs to the Mayor—One Plain Drunk Captured.

Allison Wynd and August Murphy were arrested last night by Patrolmen Rhue and Betteridge on the charge of fighting. They got into a quarrel in an East Market street saloon which terminated into a fistie duel. The officers stopped the encounter before either of the fighters were much hurt. They gave security for their appearance before the mayor and were not locked up. This morning both men paid fines of $2 and costs each.

Orville McKinnon was taken in last night by Special Officer Johnson. The culprit had taken an overdose of the stuff that makes men lose their senses and lay down in an alley to sleep. This morning he was fined $1 and costs, owing to his inability to raise the necessary wherewithal, was deprived of seeing the elephant today.

Startled by Shooting. Residents of Second street were startled last night by a great deal of shooting in the vicinity of Thompson's pottery. It was only a "goose pasture," and no harm was done.

Small Blaze at Wellsville. A small blaze at the Wellsville planing mill today was put out by the switch engine crew, before the fire companies arrived.

JUDGE FELL'S SUMMING UP

perience in the gas business has been such that I know we are going to have a large contract on our hands; I know that there is going to be trouble getting money to put that thing where it should be.' He said that there would be no trouble about that then; as far as he was concerned he would look after the financial part. It was further agreed between us that he had arranged to put this stock as collateral with Mellon's bank for the purchase money, that since he had arranged to borrow the money himself and not for him and me, and since he was going to take the responsibility of financing, it was only right that the title should remain with him; that was perfectly satisfactory to me, and just as we were going to bed that night I said to Mr. Smith: 'If you ever forget this agreement, after all I have done for you, you will be the most ungrateful man that ever wore shoe leather.' Mr. Smith said he would never forget me."

NO PROOF AFFORDED ## OF AN AGREEMENT

If any agreement was made it was to be found in the second conversation held in February, 1896. It was the last conversation between the parties on the subject. The defendant became president of the Ohio Valley Gas company and developed it in connection with the Midway Gas company, which he already owned and which had an over-supply of gas and but few customers. The plaintiff became an employee of the company, and was subsequently an employee of other companies organized by the defendant, but he did not at any time speak of an agreement, nor assert, nor suggest a right to participate in the management of the company, nor to receive a part of its income or of the proceeds of its sale until April, 1900, when he asked for an account. What agreement, if any, is established by this conversation, or can be implied from it? These were business men discussing a proposition, which had its origin in a proposal made by the defendant a few days before at Pittsburgh that they together purchase the stock of the Ohio Valley Gas company. This proposal the plaintiff had declined to consider and the defendant had arranged to borrow the money by mortgaging his property and to purchase the stock on his own account. The plaintiff had no interest in the purchase, and had no right in connection with it. In the negotiation he had represented the seller, the trust company, and had advised a sale to the defendant. The defendant having obtained control of nearly all of the stock wished the plaintiff to stay with him and the company, and to have a full interest in the business. The plaintiff hesitated and objected, as he had before done, because of the difficulty in raising money to develop the property and was told by the defendant that he would attend to the finances. This was in substance a renewal of the first proposition, which had been declined. It was not an offer to give the plaintiff a half interest. It is utterly unreasonable to suppose that the defendant was offering to give for nothing a half interest in the property for which he was to pay $75,000 in cash, and as an inducement for the acceptance of the gift, agreeing to assume the labor, responsibility and risk of its financial management. The expression, "I want you to have a half interest," following a suggestion that they together purchase the property, is not a proposal to give him a half interest, but an offer to admit him to the purchase. The most that can be made of this conversation in the nature of an agreement is that the plaintiff was asked to join in the venture, and that the gratuitous offer was left open for his acceptance. His final answer in that conversation was the last words ever spoke by him on the subject: "If you ever forget this agreement you will be the most ungrateful man," etc., and was not the language of one who made a valid agreement, and had a right which he could assert, but of one who expected a favor. If this was the offer, it was never acted on by the plaintiff. He did not accept it by agreement to purchase and he did nothing which indicated or could be construed as an acceptance. He never contributed a dollar, nor pledged his credit, nor assumed a liability of any nature to the defendant, nor in connection with the business, and it was more than four years from the time of this conversation that he first made a demand for an account and settlement.

THE FACTS DO NOT ## SUSTAIN THE BILL

These are the facts connected with the making of the agreement as they appear in the plaintiff's testimony. They do not, in our judgment, sustain his bill. In connection with other facts to which it is needless to refer, they might warrant the conclusion that an option was given him to join in the venture, or that there was a mutual understanding that he should be liberally rewarded if the enterprise was successful. They do not, however, show that he had an interest, and without this, his suit fails.

This conclusion makes it necessary to consider the question of corroboration. If the plaintiff failed to establish the main point, there was nothing to corroborate. But on this subject we may say that but few of the facts relied on for testimony were established by independent and uncontradicted testimony; and that the few that were so established are quite as consistent with the view that the plaintiff expected a gratuity, and the defendant intended to reward him, as that he had any right in the matter, and that their effect as evidence in his favor is seriously impaired, if not wholly destroyed, by his deliberate declaration under oath in another proceeding in court in 1898 in which he stated that he had no interest, real or nominal, in the Ohio Valley Gas company, and that he did not participate in its profits, and had never participated in them.

The decree of February 20, 1901, appointing a receiver and ordering an accounting, is reversed and set aside, and it is now ordered that the bill be dismissed at the cost of the appellee.

SUPPOSED PICKPOCKET

Arrested and Jailed on Information Furnished By a Detective.

A stranger, who refused to give his name, was arrested shortly before noon today by Policeman Stafford. The officer took the man in charge at the instance of a detective who is with the Forepaugh & Sells Bros. circus, who claimed the fellow is a pick-pocket.

He is held in jail on the charge of being a suspicious character.

TO APPEAL TO LEAGUERS.

Will Be Asked to Furnish Skin to Cover Up Scars of Wreck Victims.

Kansas City, July 19.—Epworth Leaguers over the country will be asked to furnish enough cuticle for grafting over the burns of two victims of the recent Chicago and Alton railroad wreck. It was announced that the burns of Miss Julia Hayslip, the 24-year-old daughter of a wealthy Chicago, Ill., farmer, had not responded to the treatment as was expected and that to save her from carrying a hideous scar all her life new skin must be grafted. It was stated Thursday that a similar effort would be necessary in the case of Miss Zola Harry, 15 years of age, of Hoopes-town, Ills. Miss Hayslip and Miss Harry, who were caught in the wreck near Norton, Mo., were scalded so badly that their lives were despaired of for several days.

The operations of grafting must be performed within a week and it has been decided to appeal to the Leaguers, who will return home through Kansas City from the Pacific coast about that time, to furnish the required cuticle.

C. D. Sanborn, a banker of Chicago, Ills., another victim of the wreck, who was not expected to survive last night, was holding his own.

Cat Bit a Girl.

Warren, O., July 19.—Miss Mary Penny was holding a pet cat when the animal sprang at her face and fastened its teeth in her upper and lower lips. Her condition is serious, and it is believed that the cat had hydrophobia.

COUNT TOLSTOI BETTER.

Violated Doctor's Orders About Going Out in Wet Weather.

St. Petersburg, July 19.—Count Leo Tolstoi, who has been suffering from a severe attack of fever, rallied Wednesday and was much better.

It appears that in spite of the prohibition of his doctors, Count Tolstoi insisted upon going out in wet weather. He succumbed to an attack of malaria July 10. The following day his fever was much more violent and continued rising until July 15, when some improvement was noted in the count's condition. July 16 the author suffered a relapse, his strength diminished considerably, his pulse beat as high as 150 in the course of the night and his condition was extremely critical. He slept soundly later on, however, and awoke a great deal refreshed the next morning and showed perceptible improvement during that day, Wednesday.

EARL RUSSELL SENTENCED.

Sent to Jail by the English House of Lords For Bigamy in Nevada.

London, July 19.—Earl Russell, arraigned at the bar of the house of lords for trial on the charge of bigamy, pleaded guilty, after a lengthy argument against the jurisdiction of the court.

The trial was carried on with all the quaint middle age ceremonies. The argument lasted one hour. Both the Earl and Countess Russell (Mrs. Somerville), through their counsel, pleaded they did not know they were doing wrong, but had acted upon the best legal advice obtainable in Nevada.

The peers reached their decision after consideration of the case, lasting 20 minutes.

Earl Russell was sentenced to three months' imprisonment as a first-class misdemeanant.

Philippine Veteran Killed.

Pittsburg, July 19.—Harry D. Fisher, of Turtle Creek, was instantly killed while at work on the Union railroad in Duquesne. Fisher was employed as a brakeman, and was riding in the engine. He thoughtlessly leaned out of the cab window and was struck by a car on the siding. He died almost instantly. He was a veteran of the Philippine war.

JOSEPH BROS.

GREAT SPEECH DELIVERED

one man get more money for the same class of work that another man is doing for less money. That's the beauty of organization. It is no good only to settle a trouble like this strike. It is the right, honest and the only way to keep up the wages and retain our privileges and rights."

President Shaffer was then introduced amidst the wildest cheering by the audience. At first he talked rather slowly and easily, but when he had warmed to his subject he held his hearers spellbound for an hour and a half. He said in part:

"I am delighted to be with you and to engage with you in the expression and the indulgence of that which is vouchsafed to every citizen of the United States of America—the right to express the sentiments we may cherish and entertain and the right to give utterance to them. I hesitate in opening my address this afternoon because of the tremendous responsibilities which rest upon us; because of the issues we are presenting, and because of the results which may come in this movement in which we are active participants and agents."

"Mr. Chappell, in his opening address, stated that you were on strike. I do not like that term which is applied to the undertaking which has spread throughout the country. We are not out on a strike in the ordinary acceptance of the term. There are men in this audience who can understand and who remember how in former days we used to cease work, picket the mills and guard the railway stations. We would, by means of ardent spirits, prime ourselves and prepare for all sorts of mischief and depredation. If any other person took our old positions we dealt with them summarily."

MILLMEN SHOULD ACT LIKE GENTLEMEN

"Citizens, gentlemen and brethren, we trust very little drinking will be done, especially in the next few weeks; that there shall be no overt act and that you will deport yourselves becomingly as citizens of this community and of the United States should."

"The less drinking there is the less recourse will there be to violence. This will be the best for your cause and for the speedy settlement of the present trouble. Remember, men who are employed in rolling mills can be gentlemen."

"This is not a strike or ordinary lockout, but it is for a principle, and that is right, liberty and justice. Redress cannot be obtained by appeal to brute force. The manufacturers will be careful to observe the law. See that you do likewise."

The advice of Mr. Shaffer to the men was sound and conservative. In his arraignment of the trusts he said: "If the trusts are not checked you will have to sneak into caverns finally. They have your Sunday; they keep your men busy and away from the house of God. They force your wives to remain in the kitchen and forego the worship of the Lord. They already seek to mortgage your body as they will ultimately desire to buy your very soul."

"There is but one way to throw off this mighty bondage and to stand before the world as men worthy of the public respect. Stand together, be loyal to each other and meet the foe in the open. Shun the temptations to adopt any course that is questionable. Right and honor will triumph."

The address of Mr. Shaffer was applauded at every telling point and made a profound impression. Well informed men pronounced it the best address on the labor question that they ever heard.

Mr. Shaffer and Mr. Chappell returned to Pittsburg on the evening train.

HAD A FIGHT WITH THIEVES.

Ohio Officer Kills Fleeing Unknown, Whose Companion Escaped.

Ravenna, O., July 19.—Night Police-man Richard B. Fairchild discovered two burglars at work in a millinery store. He called upon the burglars to surrender. The latter, however, ran into the street, firing their revolvers as they retreated. Fairchild followed, using his revolver freely. One of the burglars eventually dropped dead, shot through the heart. The other man escaped. The dead burglar is unidentified.

Three Boer Officers Killed.

London, July 19.—Lord Kitchener, commanding the British forces in South Africa, reports to the war office as follows: "Glendfontein, July 18.—Captain Charles Botha, son of Philip Botha and Field Coronets Humann and Oliver have been killed in the Orange River colony."

Ten Years' Trial

The Story of a Soldier's Struggle

By Brigadier General
Charles King

That episode led to split number two in the mess. Channing's words were held by Nathan's few followers as "a star on the artillery," and he was asked to withdraw them. He wouldn't. He said they applied only to Nathan's immediate circle, which included, to the best of his belief, only three or possibly four officers of artillery. The mess divided against itself, and this was the condition of affairs when the Chicago papers came telling of the tremendous events at Sheridan. It so happened that Mrs. Torrance was giving a reception that afternoon, that Mrs. Melville had "regretted" some days previous, but that Miss Ethel Grahame, the very attractive young woman referred to as "devoted to riding" in an earlier chapter, had been induced, much against her will, to go in place of her aunt. There were many "points" to this girl, as the most blasé man in the batteries.

Mr. Santley, had twice remarked, but later he had given it as his opinion that for a girl who hadn't a penny she was too—superior, you know. Santley had been twice abroad, had a little money and about as little sense, had cast his lot with the Nathan contingent as more congenial and productive of dinners. Yet he had spent more evenings at Melville's than anywhere else in the garrison. Melville, always courteous to him, but never communicative, could not have been the attraction, especially as the major had a way of withdrawing to his study with certain of his officers on several evenings in the week and working out problems in the war game. Santley was no student. He hated books, but he loved a pretty face, and that Ethel Grahame's was pretty beyond peradventure not more than five women at Pawnee could be brought to deny even in sacred and secret confidences. Mrs. Melville was not Santley's attraction, for she spent the early evening hours with her children as a rule and considered Santley a milkop and snob. Snob he was, as defined by Thackeray, but milkop—that was still "not proved." Santley was a dawdler in the parlor, but no dolt upon parade. He rode, shot, sparred and danced well, and what he might do in the event of active service was yet to be determined. Now, Langdon had been Miss Grahame's escort on three occasions in saddle before his arrest and court martial, and then sharp weather set in. Miss Grahame, who had been "devoted to riding" in the early fall, seemed to lose her fondness for it when the November winds blew cold over the bald bluffs along the Pawnee. It was Miss Grahame on whom the duty of entertaining Mr. Santley generally devolved, and it was the conviction in Melville's household that no better arrangement was desired by that gentleman. What the major and his wife only conjectured was that for Miss Grahame the arrangement was less charming, but she made no remonstrance. There was very much in Mr. Santley she did not fancy at all, but she would have been less than woman had she not seen that her half formed aversion was anything but reciprocated. Few women worth the winning are destitute of coquetry, however diluted, and Ethel Grahame had found pleasure and interest in spite of herself in Mr. Santley's visits, for she delighted in puzzling, perplexing, even in tormenting, him. She had gone to two dances with him, to one with Woodrow or May and then refused to go with him to a third. He asked why. "Because you ask so far ahead," was her placid reply.

"I thought the rule was 'first come first served,'" he said in sulky surprise. "I know you did, and if that rule were universal no woman could be afforded a choice. She might be compelled to go through an entire season with the least desirable man in society. Now, I like variety." "You went riding three times hand running with Mr. Langdon," complained the youth. "Did you refuse him the fourth?" "The fourth never came, but if it had I should have gone. There is great difference between an exhilarating outdoor ride and an indoor party. Besides—Mr. Langdon could teach so much."

"Which I can't do, I suppose you mean," said he disconsolately. Then with an upward glance. "Is he going to teach riding for a living, do you suppose?"

The words were hardly spoken when he regretted them. Miss Grahame flushed hotly, and the light in her eyes boded ill for Santley.

They were walking along the broad gravel path toward the commanding officer's at the moment. The Torrances' gate was just ahead. Three or four women, joyously chatting and laughing, were entering. They nodded, with smiling significance, toward the approaching pair, thereby augmenting Miss Grahame's annoyance.

"Say I'm forgiven, Miss Grahame," pleaded Santley hurriedly. "and that you will go with me to the Thanksgiving hop. I've got to go to stables now, you know. There won't be any men at the Torrances' till after retreat. Indeed—I'm—I'm awfully sorry I vexed you," and, to do Santley justice, he looked it.

She turned and faced him. "Mr. Santley," she said, "I knew very few officers till our coming here. It is the first garrison I ever visited. My uncle and two of his old comrades formed my ideas of what our soldiers were and should be, and Mr. Langdon seemed to be of the same caliber, as you artillerymen say. I never heard them sneer at a man in such misfortune as had fallen to him. Your having vexed me is a small matter. My ideals of the army have been decidedly shaken, not by one, but by several of your associates. I thought officers were above such pettiness."

And now it was Santley's turn to redden. "If you stop to consider how Mr. Langdon's miscom-misfortunes—reflect on the regiment, Miss Grahame, you may understand why we feel it so deeply, and, feeling it, it is no wonder we occasionally speak. If it's anything you—care about, of course I'm hoping he won't have to teach riding—or anything else."

"Good afternoon, Mr. Santley," said she, for they had reached the open gate, and she desired no further words.

"But about the hop, Miss Grahame?" "I shall take it under advisement until tomorrow," was the mischievous and provoking answer. "with all the chances against acceptance. I doubt now if I go at all."

But when Major Melville returned from stables he found his wife in deep concern. It was dark enough at that time to call for lights in many of the quarters, and the windows at the Torrances' were brilliant. Some of the women folk had already sauntered home; others were still abroad, chatting in eager, subdued tones. Mrs. Melville met the major at the door and drew him into the parlor.

"What is this news about Mr. Langdon?" she asked as soon as she had him safely cornered.

"That he is at Sheridan and has been ill, I gather," was Melville's calm reply.

"Now, I ask because Ethel came back all aflame with indignation and has gone to her room to bathe her eyes. Mrs. Nathan said publicly that Mr. Langdon had been picked up by the police drunk in the gutter of a crowded street and that the soldiers clubbed together, paid his fine and took him out to Fort Sheridan."

"I have a letter from Nelson giving me full particulars," said Melville in the same unflinching manner as he gently drew his wife to a seat by his side. "There is no truth in the story of drunkenness or police. You remember Ryan, who used to be in my battery? 'Twas he who found Langdon fainting, and they took him to Sheridan as a matter of course."

"But Mrs. Nathan says Colonel Sharpe was furious at his being brought there and has ordered him put off the post as soon as he can be moved, and the papers are full of stories about a duel. She says Dr. Armistead declared he would publicly insult and horsewhip Mr. Langdon if he showed his face in the garrison."

The major smiled. "Never mind what Mrs. Nathan or the newspapers say, dear," he answered in the same gentle, reassuring tone. "Nelson tells me that there is some old trouble between this young doctor and Langdon, but that they have not met and are not likely to meet. Channing hopes to secure an opening for Langdon as soon as he is able to work."

"Oh, yes, and that reminds me, Mrs. Nathan said Mr. Langdon had the impudence to go to her uncle, who is vice president or something in the Chicago and Seattle railway, and demand employment, saying he was an officer in her husband's battery here, and Mr.—whatever his name is—you remember him; he was here—just told him they had no use for such a character. Now, do you suppose that can be true?" And Mrs. Melville looked up at her stalwart husband as though the wisdom of the universe were centered in him.

THE DROUTH BROKEN

Welcome Rain Drenched Grateful Homeseekers, at
El Reno, O. T.

PRAYERS FOR RELIEF ANSWERED

By the Falling of Rains In Southwestern Missouri, Central and Southern Kansas and Central Part of Indian and Oklahoma Country.

Kansas City, July 19.—Further good
rains following those of Wednesday
fell after midnight Wednesday night
and during Thursday in many points in the southwest. The area covered was principally in Southwestern Missouri, Central and Southern Kansas
and in the central part of the Indian
and Oklahoma country. The heaviest fall was in Sedgewick county, in which Wichita is situated, and where nearly two inches and a half of water fell.
The rains have increased the prospects of half a crop of corn and will help pasture. However, but little rain is reported in Northern and Western Kansas, and some points are still suffering a drouth that extends
back from about four to about eight weeks. The rain in the territory began Wednesday afternoon, covering a large area in the vicinity of El Reno, O. T., and brought to an end
the drouth of more than a month.
El Reno is crowded with thousands of homeseekers, registering for the Kiwa-Comanche opening, and the rain
Thursday, coming upon them suddenly, caught many at the registration booths unawares, wetting their papers
and overturning a number of their canvas shelters. The people were too grateful to complain and instead rejoiced at the downpour.

The average temperature in the southwest Thursday was considerably lower than that for the past two weeks. At Kansas City the highest reached was 97.

FIRM FAITH IN GOD.

STEYN SHOWS A RELIGION WELL WORTH EMULATING.

Kitchener Makes Public a Correspondence Between Steyn and Reitz.
That Was Captured.

London, July 19.—The war office issued late last night a dispatch from Lord Kitchener, giving the correspondence between Mr. Reitz and Mr.
Steyn that was captured with the latter's baggage near Lindley, July 11.
Mr. Reitz, under date of May 10, wrote Mr. Steyn that a meeting of the

MARTINUS TH. STEYN.

Transvaal government had been held,
attended by General Botha, General Viljoen and Mr. Smuts, to consider the national situation. He went on to catalogue the difficulties—the
numerous surrenders of Burghers, entailing a heavy responsibility on the government, the rapidly decreasing
supply of ammunition, the disintegration of the government and the lack of any definite assurances of European intervention.

"In view of these facts," he said,
"the government has decided to address a message to President Kruger pointing out the terrible conditions.
The time has passed for us to let matters drift as at present. We must take a final step."

Mr. Steyn, replying, May 15, upbraided Mr. Reitz with weak heartedness, saying:

"There is still sufficient ammunition
to continue the struggle. You ask what prospect there is of a successful termination. I ask what chance
there was for two small republics
when they declared war against the mighty power of Great Britain. You will answer that we trusted in God
and in foreign intervention. What reason is there now to place less trust
in God?"

"I have seen recent European newspapers, and I firmly believe that complications will occur in Europe in the course of a few months which
will secure our good fortune."

Mr. Steyn also says the fact that
Mr. Kruger and the Boer delegates remain in Europe convinces him that they consider the case not beyond
hope. He adds that he has summoned
General De Wet and urges Mr. Reitz to take no steps until he has heard further from him.

Suggestion That Dewey Command.
Washington, July 19.—The suggestion was made by a rear admiral in high standing that Admiral Dewey
should be given command of a large
squadron, comprising the best principles of our new ships, to be present at the coronation of King Edward VII.
The navy department has not thus far taken up the question of naval representation at this event,
but the suggestion concerning Admiral Dewey and a large squadron of fine ships meets with general ap-

BIDDLES SENTENCED TO DIE.

Dorman Guilty In First Degree—Jennie Seebers and Jessie Bodyne leased on Own Recognizance.

Pittsburg, July 19.—John and Edward Biddle were sentenced to death in criminal court. The brothers were convicted of the murder of Thomas D.
Kahney, the Mt. Washington grocer.
Before they were sentenced the court refused to grant a new trial in each case. Walter Dorman, who pleaded guilty of the same crime, was adjudged guilty of murder in the first degree by the court.

Before the decision on the application for a new trial was announced,
it was said by James Francis Burke,
attorney for John Biddle, that in case sufficient funds were forthcoming an appeal would be carried to the supreme court. It is currently believed that this will be done, as friends of
the convicted men have offered to aid in the matter. Attorney John D. Watson, who represented Edward Biddle, also intimated that such a move was probable.

Attorney William A. Blakeley presented his petition in favor of Jessie Bodyne and Jennie Seebers, who were then brought into court. He asked that the girls be released, inasmuch
as they had been ready and willing to stand trial at all times and there was no evidence against them.

District Attorney John C. Haymaker
said that he had no objection to releasing them, and after a consultation, Judges Shafer and Frazer authorized
the release of the two girls by a formal order. They were released on their own recognizance.

REBELLION RENEWED.

STRONG IN BATANGAS.

Three Provinces and Island Cebu Returned to American Military Control.

Manila, July 19.—The United States
civil commission announced that after about three months' trial of provincial form of government in the islands of Cebu and Bohol and the province of Batangas, Luzon, control
of those districts, owing to their incomplete pacification, has been returned to the military authorities, it
having been proved that the communities indicated are backward and underlying of civil administration.

The provincial and civil officials of these designated districts continue
their functions, but are now under the authority of General Chaffee, instead
of that of civil government. Taft, as heretofore, General Chaffee has the power arbitrarily to remove from office any or all provincial or civil officials and to abrogate any section of the laws promulgated in these three provinces.

The residents of the island of Cebu
have protested, but without success,
against the return of that island to military control. Several towns in Cebu are still besieged by the insurgents. The insurrection on the island of Bohol has been renewed and insurgent sentiment in the province of Batangas is strong.

General Chaffee has ordered a battalion of the Thirtieth Infantry to begin the occupation of the island of Mindoro. The province of Batangas
will be occupied by the entire Twentieth Infantry.

Constabulary Act Passed.

Manila, July 19.—An act has been passed organizing the insular constabulary practically as outlined in dispatches to the Associated Press
last March. A provision has been added empowering the chief of the system and either of the four district assistants to temporarily consolidate constabularies of two or more provinces, in cases of necessity. Inspection and discipline of the municipal police will also be controlled by the constabulary department.

Admiral Heyden Dead.

St. Petersburg, July 19.—Admiral
Count Loguin Heyden died here July 3. He was in his 95th year and had been an officer in the Russian marine nearly 80 years.

NOTES FROM MANILA.

Life of the Igorrotes, Governor
Whitmarsh's Constituents.

INDEPENDENT AND PEACEFUL.

These Peculiar People Are Apt Pupils In Civil Government—Care of Civilian Employees—Filipino Complaints of Discrimination In Government Employ.

Phelps Whitmarsh, governor of Benguet province, who is in the city on official business, talks interestingly of the Igorrotes under his jurisdiction, writes the Manila correspondent of the New York Post under the date of May 28. These peculiar people were the first in the Philippines to ask for a civil government, and Mr. Whitmarsh
was the first provincial governor appointed. Government in his province
differs materially from that elsewhere in the archipelago, necessarily so because of the character of the inhabitants. As explained by Mr. Whitmarsh, the Igorrotes are in a position somewhat similar to that of the North American Indians, under an agent, but with a large measure of freedom in matters of local government. While the governor fixes the laws of the province,
each municipality elects its officers and
makes its laws, excepting those relating to taxation, and this last rests
lightly, being only one-half of 1 per cent on property, or 50 cents (gold) yearly for those not possessing property.

"An Igorrote town is the most independent institution in the islands," Governor Whitmarsh says. "It uses
every cent of its taxes for its own benefit, nothing going into the provincial government. All that the governor can do is to approve or suggest amendments to laws, so that the Igorrotes are enjoying a good opportunity to practically learn how to govern themselves.
I was astonished at the amount of aptitude and intelligence the natives displayed in framing their laws. I have allowed them to follow pretty much
their own ideas and often have approved minor legislation which I knew
would be unsatisfactory in order that they might learn its ineffectuality and improve themselves in self government."

Individually the Igorrote is self dependent. "He can supply his needs
and those of his family with little effort. Money is no inducement to him.
He doesn't want to work, doesn't want
to change his dress and doesn't want to become a Christian. In fact, he has no need of the aid of the outside world.
The question is how can we induce him
to accept civilization. The Igorrote would be happier and better off without civilization, but this is necessary for his preservation, or the Juggernaut of the world will crush him out of existence."

These Igorrotes are antagonistic to the Tagalogs and also to Christians.
They are thorough pagans, but are moral and honest, although they will
lie. Childish in many respects, they can fight on occasion, and Governor Whitmarsh tells of a force of 75 of
them which he organized and which,
armed with bolos and six guns, scouted through the territory of the predatory and head hunting Busuls, northeast of the province, broke up their gangs and captured their leaders. They do not fight the Americans, however,
and 34 soldiers easily keep order in the province.

The quartermaster's department is to build about 50 houses for the use of the civil employees of the government.
They will be built on the exposition
grounds, and the barracks there, soon to be vacated by the soldiers, will be converted into dwellings. The object is to relieve the employees of the excessive cost of living, which is higher
here than in the United States. Accommodation at the inferior hotels costs $35 (gold) per month, but in the
houses to be built by the government it is thought that satisfactory quarters
and board can be furnished for $30 a month. Each house will probably accommodate five or six persons. They will be built of Filipino woods and adapted to the climate. The barracks
will be divided into apartments suited
to families, bachelors and mess halls.
It is intended also to establish stores similar to army commissary stores for
the benefit of civilian employees, where
goods can be bought at about 10 per cent above their cost to the government.

The papers here printed in English
are protesting against the continuance
for some years of Spanish as the official language of the courts. They assert that comparatively few of the people, especially outside of Manila, speak Spanish and that the requirement of English as the official language would work no special hardship. They appear to overlook the fact, however, that the laws are all in Spanish.

This language question is in another way the cause of much discontent among the Filipinos who aspire to positions, clerical and otherwise, under the American administration. They assert that even when they pass the civil service examination and are appointed
they receive less compensation than Americans in the same grade. This is true, and the explanation offered is the unfamiliarity of the natives with the English language and American methods. Whether equal opportunity will be allowed them when they have learned American ways and English remains to be seen.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Note of a Personal Nature And
Town.

Seriously Ill—J. W. Allison, Fourth and Monroe street, is seriously ill of typhoid fever.

Her Condition Critical — Mrs. E.
Sherwood, of Huston addition, who
has been ill with consumption for several months, is much worse. She is unconscious and no hopes are entertained for her recovery.

Fainted on the Street — An aged
country lady, whose name was not learned, fainted on Fifth street near Market this morning. She was carried into a nearby store and a physician sent for. She recovered, however, before the doctor arrived.

Blood Poisoning Feared—Ed Roe,
employed as a roller at the outbound platform of the freight station, is compelled to be off duty on account of a sore hand. Several days ago he was engaged in unloading sheet iron
from a car and accidentally cut one
of the fingers of his right hand. The wound apparently healed, but Wednesday it began to swell. It is thought blood poisoning has set in and Roe may be compelled to have the finger amputated.

PLEASANT EVENT

Miss Mae Bratt, of the West End, Delightfully Entertains
Friends.

Miss Mae Bratt, of Jethro street,
delightfully entertained a number of friends at her home last evening.
Dancing was the chief amusement of
the evening, although various amusements were provided for those of the guests that did not care to "trip the
light fantastic," and the evening was passed in a most enjoyable manner.
Selections of instrumental and vocal music were rendered and at the close of the evening's entertainment the guests were seated at a daintily decorated table spread with delicious, toothsome viands, to which they did ample justice. The affair was one of the most pleasant social events of the West End during the season.

Resigned to Go South.

Lisbon, July 19.—(Special)—Miss
Ruth Elliott, of Shreve, a graduate of Wooster university, has been appointed assistant principal of the Lisbon high school. She succeeds Miss Alice Smith, who has filled the position for two years, and has resigned to go to Asheville, N. C., to teach.

To Gauge His Wife's Temper.

"I heard about a peculiar case of hen-pecked husband recently," said a young woman the other day.

"What was it?" her friend inquired.
"There is a man who has some difficulty in gauging his wife's temper. At times she is considerate of his welfare
and at other times—well, he rather thinks that married life is a failure.

"He has a peculiar manner of finding out the state of his wife's feeling toward him. In the evening when he returns home from work he never steps
into the house without going through a sort of ceremony. First he throws his hat in the house, and then he seats himself on the steps and waits. If five minutes pass without the hat being thrown out again, he enters and generally finds his wife very agreeable. However, if the hat is thrown out again the unfortunate man seeks hospitality for the night somewhere else
rather than brave the anger of his helpmeet."—Cleveland Leader.

An Approach to Perpetual Motion.

A clock is to be seen at Brussels
which comes about as near being a perpetual motion machine as can be invented, for the sun does the winding.
The following is the method by which it works: A shaft exposed to the solar
rays causes an up draft of air, which sets the fan in motion. The fan actuates mechanism which raises the weight of the clock until it reaches the top and then puts a break on the fan
till the weight has gone down a little,
when the fan is again liberated and proceeds to act as before. As long as the sun shines frequently enough and
the machinery does not wear out the clock will keep in perpetual motion.

In Retreat.

Down from the upper air floated the strains of music, yet Neptune was visibly annoyed.

"What's gnawing at thy vitals, sire?"
asked a mermaid.

"I wish in the name of Orpheus,"
said the sea king, "that boating parties
could sing something else besides 'A Life on the Ocean Wave.'"

And forthwith he crawled into a cave and pulled the cave in after him.

one cent a cup or 35 cents a pound,

Kilndrawers, Take Notice.

There will be an important meeting of local union No. 17 on Saturday,

WORLD'S LARGEST GUN.

Government Will Have It Ready For Exhibition In 1903.

The management of the Pan-American exposition will be disappointed in
its hope of securing the great 16 inch rifle which is being manufactured for
the government and which is intended
to become a part of the coast defense
armament, says a special dispatch from Washington to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. This big gun has cost the United States about $500,000 thus far,
and it is so far from completion that it is not expected that it can be exhibited before another year has passed. It has been suggested in consequence that it would form a most interesting exhibit
for the St. Louis exposition in 1903, as it will probably be mounted by that time and ready for transportation.

The castings for the gun are complete, but its breech mechanism has not been finished, nor has the immediate
gun carriage on which it is to be mounted. In 1903 the gun will be fully completed, and it is expected then, as now, it will be the largest gun in the world. It will have a range of more than 25 miles, and its destructive ability can hardly be estimated. It is indicated, however, by the fact that the
skilled gunners of the United States artillery believe any well directed shot
from the great gun would entirely demolish the largest fighting ship of a hostile navy which might attempt to enter a port which it defends.

HE'S A WONDER!

PROF. FRANCIS HUNT,

Of Pittsburgh.

.Palmist.

—AND—

.Clarivoyant.

Appreciating the fact that there are many of the best citizens who are only
too anxious to consult a good, reliable medium, if they first felt positive that
in spending their money they would receive full value in return, therefore Prof Hunt gladly makes the following
honest offer: "I hereby solemnly
swear and guarantee to give each and every patron full and complete satisfaction, and after I am finished with my reading, and you are satisfied and
do not find me superior over other mediums that have visited your city (you be full judge), pay me not one penny.
ANYTHING BE FAIRER? Prof. Hunt's
ancestors were all powerful and reliable mediums, and the old family name of Hunt is as well-known and
held as sacred to the believer in the spirit power as the name of Shakespeare is in the realms of literature.
Therefore, this wonderful young man
has received the rich and golden inheritance and combined knowledge
which has been handed down from father to son for generations. He asks
no questions, but answers sealed messages in a trance, and before you can
utter a solitary word HE TELLS
YOUR NAME IN FULL, names of enemies, friends or rivals; tells whether
husband, wife or sweetheart is true
or false; tells you how to gain success in love, courtship, marriage, divorce, health, business, law suits, speculation and transactions of all kinds. In fact, no matter what may be your hope, fear or ambition, come to this gifted man and find help. If you are out of work and discouraged, don't blame McKinley or find fault with the
universe, the trouble may be right in yourself or your surroundings. Do you find, with all your natural gifts and
talents, that you are baffled, discouraged and unsuccessful? If so, come and
be advised and find out the cause of your bad luck, and how you can change your bad conditions to those of
success, joy and happiness.

HE HAS HELPED OTHERS,
WHY NOT YOU?

If you are going to see a clairvoyant

WHY NOT SEE THE BEST?

Especially when you can do so at a moderate cost. You want a medium who will make good his promise—one
who legally guarantees success in everything he undertakes. You want a medium of deep learning, and above all, you want a medium who will deal honest with you. These are the mot-
toes of Prof. Hunt. HE CHANGES YOUR LUCK AND GIVES YOU suc-CESS THAT WINS SURE.

ALL over the big store, bargains predominate. In the childrens cloth or wash suits, pricing represents about factory cost. Straw Hats for men and boys—are priced about half. Summer underwear at less than mill's cost. The tables fairly bristle with good values. A dollar will go as far here now, as $1.50 or $2 in profit making times.

Posing as a Model.

A curious feature of a model's occupation is her posing for an artist who is painting some one else. Wealthy people are capricious and often do not care to give long sittings. Therefore,
after the artist has caught the expression of the face, he will call in a model
to pose for the figure. Some models
do not care to do this, as part of their enjoyment of their occupation consists
in seeing themselves reproduced on canvas, but there are others who are quite willing to help fill out.

Various models have various points of excellence, and often a painter will employ at different stages in the progress of his work from three to four models for one figure on his canvas.
One model is known for her coloring,
another for her hands, another for her hair. An artist generally notes in his address book the characteristics of a model after her name. These quotations are taken at random from an artist's address book: "Fine young Jewess," "English, tall and slim, blond, costume," "Good back," "Good figure,
short legs, ivory tone."—Cosmopolitan.

The Florodora.

[The latest new summer drink.]
Oh, siren of the summer drinks!
A pale rose in the shattered ice
Glow like the cheek of that sweet minx
Who names this drink of paradise.

Of raspberries their sipr soup
From tender fruit most tender nursed,
And fragrant limes that reach the goal
And make a blessing of a thirst.

Oh, don't forget the Plymouth gin
That makes of water merry jest,
Its pale and weak and soulless twin
That never stirred my lady's breast!

And feel Oh, cool, refreshing mass!
Oh, grateful music to the ear!
Crushed, shattered, powdered in the glass,
A grateful, frozen poem there.

Then ale of ginger on the top—
Instinct with life and knows its bias—
That leaps out with a regal pop
As though it were the real old fizz.

Lo, crimson Venus that we hath!
The heartless cherry, sweetly nice,
Fresh from a Maraschino bath
To rest upon a couch of ice.

A slice of orange, a disk of gold,
The crowning glory of the float;
The drink's complete and smoking cold
And ready for the arid throat.

To you, sweet "Florodora" maid,
Who caused this summer blessing's make,
I drink the tippie in the shade
And bless you for it, Susie Drake.
